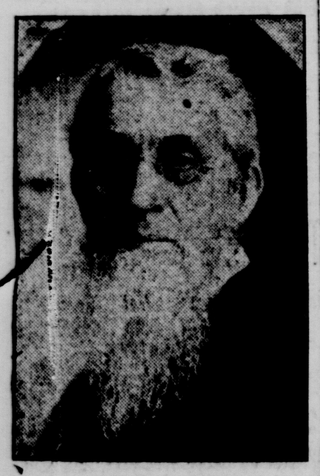
College Loses "Grand Old Man" In Passing Of Dr. Ferguson



DR. ROBERT G. FERGUSON

Robert Gracey Ferguson, D. D., aged 84, the "grand old man of Westminster", revered by every true son and daughter of Westminster College, passed on to newer fields this morning at six o'clock. His death occurred at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Hugh Lambie, of 422 Clokey street, Mount Lebanon, Pittsburgh, Pa.

With the passing of Dr. Ferguson Westminster College loses a man who for nearly a half century was a positive influence upon the character of the student life of the institution; the United Presbyterian church loses a minister who held fast in the faith, and the thousands of men and women who knew and loved him lose a friend whose life was a benediction.

Graduated in 1862

Robert Gracey Ferguson was born in Dry Run, Pa., February 16, 1842, the son of Judge James A. Ferguson and Anna Doyle Ferguson. After attending the grade schools he enrolled at Jefferson College (now Washington and Jefferson), graduating from there in 1862. In 1866 he graduated from Allegheny Theological Seminary and was ordained as a minister in the United Presbyterian church. When President Abraham Lincoln issued a call to arms he enlisted and served with the Pennsylvania Twenty-First Cavalry. January 28, 1868, he was joined in wedlock with Anna Huber, who preceded him in death some years ago.

Two churches boast of his pastorate, one in Mercerburg, and one in Butler, Pa. After his service in the ministry he became president of Westminster College in 1884, a position he held with honor and distinction until 1906, when he was made president emeritus. In 1898 he was elected as Moderator of the United Presbyterian denomination.

Following his retirement as active president of Westminster he served as professor of Bible in Westminster and in 1915 gave up the active duties of a teacher, but still served as an advisor of the college. He was also president of the National Bank in New Wilmington,

Romance Intervenes And Upsets Royal Precedent

Prince Leopold Of Belgium Greets Wife At Pier With Shower Of Kisses

Admiring Belgians Stand Awestricken As Royal Couple Break Convention

(International News Service)

ANTWERP, Nov. 8.—Romance is no respector of royal customs or inhibitions.

Although Crown Prince Leopold and Princess Astrid were married last week in Stockholm in a civil ceremony they are not considered married, according to Belgian royal useage, until after the religious ceremony to be held in Brussels this week. Hence the welcome which Crown Prince Leopold gave Princess Astrid here today was, according to the royal program, to be the formal and dignified welcome of royal fiances.

Romance intervened , however, and upset royal precedent.

Princess Astrid standing on the bridge of the Swedish cruiser which brought her to Antwerp, espied Prince Leopold on the dock and straightway blew him a kiss.

Prince Leopold blushed and the crowds of admiring Belgians cheered.

When the cruiser was made fast and the gangplank was put over the side, Prince Leopold made a dash to be first aboard, and Princess Astrid made a dash to be first ashore. They met mid-way on the gangplank. Both of the royal lovers forgot all about royal dignity as Prince Leopold smothered his princess in his arms and there was a fervid exchange of kisses, while the two were entirely oblivious of the cheers and plaudits of a highly pleased and none the less amused audience on the pier.

City Is Planning For Improvements

Ten Projects Already Under Consideration For Early Spring

STREET IMPROVEMENTS ARE BEING LINED UP

Ten large municipal projects are planned for early spring according to Councilman Louis Genkinger, superintendent of streets. The projects will include new paving, repaving, resurfacing, street extension and building operations.

It is probable that the first project will be the repaving of South Mill, between East Washington and Water streets. The project was planned for this fall but abandoned a few days ago when specifications desired to settle a contractors' controversy, could not be found. The P-O railway company will bear a proportionate share of improvement cost and one line of track will extend between East Washington and Water streets.

The city also plans to resurface Cedar street, Crawford avenue, and Grant street. The street car company will be asked to pay their proportionate share of these improvements. North Mercer street will be widened in the downtown section and paved north from Lincoln avenue. The city may also pave Delaware avenue, north of Moody avenue and proposes to extend South Mercer street on an angle to South Jefferson street.

The municipal building project will be featured by the erection of a new fire department station in South Jefferson street. It is probable that the Central fire department, East street, will be remodelled for rental purposes, city attaches believing that it would make an ideal site for storeroom purposes.

Large Crowd Attends Ceremony At Third U. P. Church

DR. S. C. GAMBLE MAKES ADDRESS

Many Ministers Take Part In Service—Church Choir Sings Selections

One thousand persons attended the cornerstone laying of the new Third United Presbyterian church, East Washington and Adams street, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The event took place on the first floor of the new building. The program was presided over by the pastor, Rev. S. B. Copeland.

The ceremony was a very impressive one and was featured by a number of prayers, music and scripture reading.

The address of the afternoon was given by Dr. S. C. Gamble, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church at Butler, Pa. Dr. Gamble gave an excellent message on "The Pre-eminence of Christ." He emphasized the fact that some people give Christ a place in their hearts; others do better and give Him a prominent place in their life but the best way for people and churches is to give him pre-eminence in their lives at all times.

Ministers Take Part

Following a selection by the Sunday School orchestra the opening prayer was made by Rev. George Krupp, pastor of Center United Presbyterian church and the Scripture was read by Rev. A. J. Randles of the Second United Presbyterian church of this city. Two anthems, "Lord Of My Life" and "When Morning Gilds the Sky" were sung by the chorus choir of the church.

REPORT ONE TOWN WHOLLY DESTROYED

Tidal Wave Follows First Typhoon—Details Meager On Devastation

(International News Service)

MANILA, Nov. 8.—Two hundred dead, several hundred missing and property damage that will reach a staggering figure, was the toll taken today of the terrific typhoon, followed by tidal waves, that swept over the province of Batangas. Another typhoon was reported to be sweeping toward the Philippine islands today. The typhoon was reported 300 miles off the east coast of Luzon and moving in a westerly direction.

Hurtling in from the direction of the island of Samar, the typhoon struck the southern end of Batangas with a fury that carried death and destruction in its wake.

Returning army planes reported that a strip of territory three miles wide and 15 miles long at the south end of the province had been particularly hard hit.

Most of the deaths occurred in this vicinity.

On the heels of the typhoon huge waves rolled over the beach and hurled tons of water inland, crumpling up houses ,uprooting trees and spreading death.

Town Wholly Destroyed

The returning airplanes reported that the town of Batangas appeared to be almost wholly destroyed. Most of the buildings had been leveled by the gale.

Most of those who lost their lives were residing along the beach at the south end of Batangas. The full fury of the typhoon was felt there.

Many of these persons were killed and injured when the typhoon broke on the island. The toll mounted upward as the waves washed in from the sea, scattering the debris of the houses and sweeping the occupants away in the great rollers.

Other sections of the Philippines were also struck by the storm.

Score Simpson For Removing Of Mrs. Gibson

Assert Prosecutor Had No Right To Move Woman From Hospital

WILL SOON TAKE STAND, INDICATED

(International News Service)

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 8.—Summary removal by Prosecutor Alexander Simpson of Mrs. Jane Gibson, the state's star witness in the Hall-Mills trial from the Somerset hospital, where she has been seriously ill to a hospital in Jersey City has created a furore in Somerville.

"I never heard of anything so outrageous in my 20 years medical practice" Dr. A. Anderson Lawton, physician who attended Mrs. Gibson at the Somerset hospital declared today.

"This action jeopardizes the woman's health and life."

Dr. Lawton said Simpson refused to sign a paper assuming responsibility for taking Mrs. Gibson in an ambulance on a 32 mile trip.

Mrs. Gibson however, signed a statement declaring she left the Somerset hospital at her own risk. She had been in the hospital here since last Wednesday when she collapsed in the court house.

"I removed her so that she will be under the care of our own doctors" said Simpson. "Here in Somerville they said she won't be able to testify in court for weeks; in Jersey City they say it will be only a matter of four or five days before she will be able to take the stand."

Expect Parade Of Large Size On Armistice Day

This year's Armistice Day celebration parade will be the most imposing one ever attempted since the war, if the plans of General Chairman William J. Caldwell and Marshal John D. Kennedy materialize.

The two men are busy on the plans, their committees are working also and with good weather the celebration should be one to be remembered.

Every ex-service man in the city should endeavor to be in line on the evening of November 11, in uniform if possible but in civvies if no uniform is available.

Fraternal and civic bodies here have shown a fine spirit of cooperation in accepting the invitation to march and the ex-service men can do little else than turn out in a body to head the parade that commemorates the cessation of the world's greatest conflict.

The details of the memorial celebration will be announced on Tuesday.

My appetite is a normal one, I enjoy good things to eat, and I play no favorites in my food, sour or spicy or sweet. But there comes a time when I must confess that I overload just a wee, and yesterday I am forced to confess, that this is what happened to me. I was dining out at the home of a pal, whose wife is some cook, yes boy, and the viands she lays on the tablecloth, are a picture, a poem, a joy. And yesterday was my lucky day, they invited me up to dine and I ate fried chicken and things like that for everything tasted fine. But I ate too much which is not so good, but what was a fellow to do, with a table spread like an old time feast, the weather is sixty two.

Make Visit To Local Churches

Members Of St. Mary's Parish Visit Other Churches Of City

NEARLY 1,000 IN SUNDAY VISIT

Members of the Roman Catholic parishes of the city are now engaged in making visitations to four churches of the city, which when completed, will accord them special blessings or plenary indulgences by the pope of the Catholics of the world, who were unable to make the pilgrimage to Rome last year, during what is known as Holy Year.

Sunday afternoon members of St. Mary's parish to the number of more than a thousand, in two groups, visited four churches of the city, St. Mary's, St. Joseph's, St. Vitus and St. Michael's. The first group numbered 600 and the second group more than 400. Special services were held in each of the four churches.

This great and unprecedented religious procession attracted widespread attention. The children of the parish will make this same public visitation some time next week. These jubilee year visits may be made until the close of this year and it is expected that every member of the parish will have completed them by the last of the present year.

Those making the public visitation are also required to visit four churches privately on two other days. In numbers of the local parishes the visitations are being made privately, which is permitted, but visits under these circumstances must be made on five different days. Town Talk

One of the meanest types of petty thefts came to the attention of those who had charge of the Hallowe'en celebration last Monday night, this morning and they are making an effort at an adjustment. Frances M. Carlon of 1240 East Washington street, was decided as being the winner of the prize for the Goddess of Liberty. According to the report made to those in charge this morning for the first time, as Miss Carlon stepped up to receive her award another woman, dressed in a colonial costume, grabbed the envelope and ran away. As this was not reported for a week, those in charge had made a distribution of their funds and the adjustment they will make is at their expense. Perhaps the person responsible will see fit to make some explanation to those in charge.

According to one of the clerks at Waldman's Market on Long avenue, there are still some honest people in the world. On Saturday, in making change for a customer the clerk gave four dollars too much change. Today, the money was returned.

ing over the loss of Dr. Ferguson. No one man has meant more to the college, no one man has done more to foster and promote the ideals of Christian citizenship than he, and perhaps the college will never see another man whose life and energies were so intertwined with those of the college he served so well.

The campus and the classroom will miss his gracious presence, the faculty will miss his influence, and the commencement exercises will miss this most remarkable Christian gentleman.

To young and old he was the same, gracious, helpful and benign, exemplifying the virtues of the Master whose words and works he taught. His worth to the Christian religion and to Westminster College can never be computed, his monument will be the love and affection of those with whom he came in contact.

For the past three years Dr. Ferguson had made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Hugh Lambie, where death occurred. His advanced years took their toll and his passing followed an illness of a few days.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday evening, Nov. 9, at the home of his daughter, following which the body will be shipped to New Wilmington, where services will be held Wednesday at two o'clock in the U. P. church. Interment will be in Fair Oaks cemetery.

Dr. Ferguson is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Hugh Lambie, of Mt. Lebanon; Rev. James M. Ferguson of Bellevue, Pa., and Rev. Hubert Ferguson of Washington, Pa.

His body will be laid away among the hills of Lawrence county, but his spirit and influence will go on and on at Westminster College, guiding the destinies of the school, urging the men and women there on to the heights of achievement.

Like the apostle Paul, he has "fought a good fight, he has finished his course, he has kept the faith".

QUARREL RESULTS IN MURDER CASE SUNDAY EVENING

Detective C. C. Horner and Officer Samuels arrived a few minutes after being advised of the shooting.

According to the data secured by the police, Carmine Argano came to the Guiseppi Petalino home, 208 South Wayne street (listed in the city directory as Joseph Petroino), about 5 o'clock Sunday evening. Genaro Conti was in the kitchen of the home at the time.

Argument Starts.

Argano wanted a drink. Mrs. Petalino refused it. Argano then began to argue with Mrs. Petalino concerning a bill owed by him at the Petalino store. Finally Mrs. Petalino put Argano out of the house. Argano appeared to be under the influence of liquor, it is stated. He came back in a short time, probably about 7 o'clock, and got into antoher argument with Mrs. Petalino concerning the debt. Later he and Mrs. Petalino got into a battle, Argano hitting Mrs. Petalino repeatedly, according to the police.

At this time, John Arbali, friend of Argano in the B. & O. camp, arrived. When he saw Argano attacking Mrs. Petalino he tried to separate them. Argano rushed him to one side, telling him it was his affair.

Bullet is Fired.

Genaro Conti was seated at a table and all of a sueddn pulled a gun from his pocket and fired one shot at Argano, the same hitting Argano in the left eye and causing instant death, police reports charge. Argano fell back on the floor. Conti, it is alleged, then tried to shoot Arbaldi, but Arbaldi clinched with him, wrenching the gun from Conti's hand and then rushing outside threw the gun away.

Conti made an effort to get away but was so much under the influence of liquor that he staggered against the stove, hitting himself over the left eye and falling to the floor.

Mr. Petalino, who was asleep upstairs, came downstairs and assisted his wife in holding Conti while John Petalino, aged 14, a son, at the direction of his father went to the fire department in the seventh ward to get the police.

Officer Allgier was there and after notifying the central police station, went to the Petalino home, where he handcuffed Conti and kept him until the officers arrived. The coroner was then notified and the body removed at his direction to the Mahoning Undertaking company morgue.

Boy Says Conti Drunk.

The police acted quickly in the matter and soon rounded up all the witnesses of the murder, including Mrs. Petalino, her husband, their son and John Arbali, Mexican friend of the dead man, and Conti, the man who fired the fatal shot.

The condition of Conti was such when he arrived at the police station that no effort was made to interview him concerning the shooting.

According to the statement of John Petalino, aged 14, Conti came to their home earlier in the day. He was drunk but the boy was not certain as to whether he secured anything there or not. Argano came to the house about 6 p. m. He was drunk and wanted something more to drink. Mrs. Petalino, the mother, refused his request and told him to get out. Argano then started to talk about some money he owed the Petalinos, at their store. She put Argano out but he came back and started to hit her, Conti was at the table and about 7:30 o'clock, when Arbali came in, he tried to stop Argano from fighting with Mrs. Petalino.

He would not stop and pushed Arbali away. Conti then pulled his gun and shot Argano, who fell to the floor, the boy told police. Conti was then going to shoot Arbali but Arbali took the gun away from him and threw it outside, according the boy, who also states he called his father, who was asleep upstairs. Conti tried to get away but fell down and his father held him, telling the boy to get the police at the fire department, which he did, his father and mother still holding Conti when the officer arrived and handcuffed Conti.

Guiseppi Petalino stated that he was sleeping, when he was awakened by a shot. He got up and went downstairs, where he saw Argano on the floor dead and Conti also on the floor. His son told him Conti shot Argano and he sent the boy for the police. He held Conti until an officer arrived. Only the members of his family were present when he came down, except the principals in the murder but Arbali came in later.

John Arbali stated that he and Argano were friends and lived at the B. & O. camp, Argano left camp about 5 o'clock and told him he would be back soon. He was not drunk then. When Argano did not return for supper he started to hunt him. He found Argano at the Petalino home and found him fighting with Mrs. Petalino in the middle of the kitchen floor.

He tried to stop them but Argano shoved him away. Genaro Conti was seated at the table and pulled the gun from his pocket and shot Argano, according to Arbali. Argano fell to the floor. Arbali stated that he grabbed Conti by the throat with one hand and took the gun away from him with the other. He ran outside and threw the gun away. When he ran out, he called that a man had been shot. He expressed the opinion that Argano was drunk because he was hitting a woman. When the police arrived he went out and found the gun for them.

Mrs. Concetta Petalino in a statement made to the police concerning the murder, stated that Conti came to the house about 6 p. m. and asked for her husband. Her husband was sleeping and she did not awaken him. Conti took a chair near the kitchen table and played with the children.

Carmine Argano came about 6:30 o'clock and asked for her husband, stating that he wanted a hatchet sharpened. She told him her husband was sleeping and he then went out into the yard but was unable to turn the grindstone to sharpen the hatchet. He then came into the house and started to talk to Conti.

John Arbali, the Mexican, then came to the house and wanted something to eat. Mrs. Petalino got him some meat and he remarked that he wanted something hot on it. Argano put a teaspoonful of pepper on it and the Mexican then complained that it was too hot and asked for a can of Tuna fish. She told Arbali that she could not give it to him as he could not pay. Argano called her names on this account and Argano ordered her to cook a supper. She refused, telling him she could not afford to do so and called his attention to the large bill he already owed at their store. Argano then became very angry and called her more vile names. She put him out but he forced his way back in and said that he would kill her and her husband tomorrow. She tried to put him out again and he struck her several times. The Mexican interfered and tried to stop him. Conti then told Argano to quiet down and not make trouble. Argano then went close to Conti and told him to mind his business. She made another effort to get Argano to leave and he struck at her again. Conti, still seated on the chair, pulled the gun and shot Argano, she said.

At the direction of Coroner J. P. Caldwell, Dr. F. W. Guy held a post mortem at the morgue of the Mahoning Undertaking company on Argano. The bullet was found to have entered the left eye, cutting the lower lid and rupturing the eyeball. It passed through the right posterior lobe of the brain, fracturing the skull a little to the right of the center line. The force of the bullet drove a piece of the skull through the scalp but the bullet was found underneath the scalp. It was a .38-calibre lead bullet and was considerably flattened by striking the skull.

A charge of murder will be made by Chief of Police Henry Dysart against Conti before Alderman L. C. Mantz some time today and Coroner Caldwell announced that the inquest would be held at the same time as the hearing on the murder charge, the time of which will be announced later.

TYPHOON CAUSES TERRIFIC DAMAGE; TWO HUNDRED DEAD

of life was small, the typhoon inflicted heavy property damage.

Entire groves of coconut trees were levelled to the ground by the fury of the storm. These trees had withstood every storm for the past 30 years.

Communication Cut Off

With communication cut off from the other sections in the typhoon area, it was impossible to estimate the full damage of the storm today.

It is known, however, that other sections have suffered heavily.

Caring for the injured, whose number is thought to be great, will tax these resources to the utmost. Other relief units are being organized and will be dispatched as soon as they are ready.

A message was received here today which was signed by Governor Jose Castillo of Batangas. It said that 7[illegible] persons were dead, 100 missing, and that 500 houses had been destroyed.

It was thought here that these figures referred only to the town of Batangas.

Returning airplanes reported that the water had subsided from Batangas and that the inhabitants already appeared to be clearing up wreckage.

Manila, Nov. 8.—Few persons were injured by the typhoon which struck the Philippine Islands, particularly severely in the Province of Batangas, it was disclosed today when Major Parker Hitchens, medical aide to Governor General Wood, returned from the stricken area in a seaplane.

Major Hitchens declared that drowning caused most of the 200 deaths reported. Following the typhoon, a tidal wave swept inland a distance of a quarter mile. The death and injury toll from the gale itself, he said, was negligible.

The food supply in the typhoon belt is plentiful, Hitchens declared, and but little outside assistance will be needed.

Inhabitants of the town of Batangas have already organized and clearing up the debris is under way.

The typhoon which wrought such havoc at Batangas was traveling in a westerly direction and will strike in the vicinity of Cochin, China, some time today it was thought.

While authorities are checking the large number of persons reported missing since the typhoon, the Filipino legislature today voted a sum of $25,000 for the assistance of those in the typhoon belt.

A wise man is merely one who can keep others from realizing what a blame fool he really is.

NEW WHITE PLAGUE MENACE

THE death rate from tuberculosis among young girls is increasing in the larger cities. There is a high death rate among girls between the ages of 15 and 19 and a still higher rate among girls from 20 to 24, and these rates are increasing though in all other groups, both men and women, a decline in the disease and in the death rate is shown.

Though a welfare worker blames the growing number of tubercular cases and deaths among young women on the desire to be stylishly slender, it seems much more likely that a girl would go without lunch in order to buy a frock or go to a dance than that she would deny herself necessary nourishment from a dread of gaining weight.

A factor entering into this rising tubercular rate in the flapper age is the wish for pretty clothes and good times, which must often be paid for out of meager earnings. Some of the good times must be paid for in lack of sleep, too, which is bad for the tubercularly inclined. And no doubt many of these girlish victims of the "white plague" have come from farms and small towns where fresh air, wholesome food and quiet living have not given them the resistance to tuberculosis found among the city-born.

CELEBRATED A LITTLE TOO SOON

THE wets celebrated their California victory too soon. Instead of the sunset country voting by 200,000, as was first indicated, to get along without any state prohibition act, it decided to keep its enforcement law. Later returns from the high hills and deep valleys, from the hidden places and hinterlands were too much for the wet areas in urban and northern California.

This changes the showing in the eight state referendums. Instead of six victories for the wets and two for the drys, it is apparently three for the drys and five for the wets. So ends the Battle of the Referendums for 1926; but just so long as politicians in doubt can use them as a screen and a bomb-proof, there will be plenty more of them. There is likely to be a bad national attack of referendum fever in 1928, from various present indications.

THE WAR ON ILLITERACY

THE importance and the extent of the movement in this country for adult education were not fully appreciated by many until formal steps were taken recently to encourage it. But when one comes to think of the extension courses, the correspondence courses, forums, institutes and night schools found everywhere in the United States, it becomes evident that there must be many thousands of men and women who are unconscious pioneers in a new movement across the intellectual frontiers.

The World War and the educational tests which attended the selective draft impressed deeply upon the nation the necessity for trained ability in the discharge of the functions of industry and commerce. This conviction stimulated in many men and women the desire to equip themselves for a more responsible position in the world of affairs and accounts in great measure for the enormous increase in enrollment in night schools, in special college and university courses and in many other agencies for adult education.

Now that the United States has guaranteed a free education for every child and made it compulsory for every child to attend school, the nation is determined that the percentage of illiterate adults shall be reduced during this generation, both for the benefit of the individual and the country. This country is not content with waiting until death and the education of youth stamp out illiteracy.

We notice where some farmers are advertising that they will not allow hunting on their farms night or day. We have an idea these night hunters would be the worst as they couldn't see at all if what some of them cannot see in daytime is anything to go by.

It is said that the automobile industry is curtailing production now. It will be worse when the credit for autos gets so it will not function properly and profitably and satisfactorily. Where will it end? People have automobiles who never had anything before, not even sense in some cases.

Six million dollars worth of whisky was seized in one raid by prohibition officers in New York. Whisky is still quite plentiful in some places in spite of all the raids. We would rather have three milion dollars than six million dollars worth of hootch.

There are two things we would like to know and will be much interested in until the end and that is how the female evangelist is going to get out of her scrape in Los Angeles and how the Halls are going to get out of their mess in New Jersey. Because women have abandoned the corset and all other stiffness in their dressing men threaten to abandon the stiff collar entirely, even to the stand-up affairs that go with evening clothes. The old-fashioned wrap-around stock is to be worn with the formal attire. Men and women surely will present a contrast when they are "dressed up". Women with half their bodies showing, front and rear, and men choking themselves with heavy halters.

Whole wheat bread and cabbage has been substituted for the bread and water diet in the Nebraska jail for bootleggers. The punishment is still severe enough for any crime. Fancy eating cabbage three times a day—couldn't be worse, unless spinach was substituted.

SEEMS SANE ENOUGH

A respected citizen from Kennebunk, Me., has suffered of late from a slipping of the intellect, which has caused much concern among his family and friends. Alas! If all the intimate facts were published concerning any man, he'd wish to move.

He Has Too Much Money. Wise Californians. She Might Bite. A City In One Building.

In spite of being the world's champion spender, Uncle Sam takes in more money than he can use. A few more hundreds of millions will be chopped from the poor. Corporations will get relief.

Since Uncle Sam is so rich, why doesn't he build some airplanes to protect his money? Someone should remind him once a week of Solon's words to Croesus: "If someone comes with better iron than you have, he will be master of all this gold."

California's voters beat by almost two to one the proposition to make the Bible part of the public school curriculum, and by more than two to one the proposition to license race track gambling. People with so much common sense deserve to own the finest country in the world.

Madam Kollontay goes to Mexico representing Russia, but she is told "Don't dare set foot on United States soil; no, not even passing through." She might bite us, and, anyhow, we are too pure for such as she.

If her government would buy back Kerensky's bonds, purchased by silly American financiers, that would be another matter. We are not unwilling to hear sound argument, and money talks logically.

Two Italians, fired perhaps by the Mussolini spirit, plan for New York, a building worth mentioning. It would be one-third of a mile long, 600 feet wide, more than twice as tall as the tallest building on earth.

Eighty-one thousand rooms and 5,000 stores would be contained in the building and a working day population of 243,000 human beings.

Such buildings, and bigger ones, with flying fields on top, will come, whether these energetic Italians or some one else does the work. "High art" will mourn until it gets used to it, but that is surely coming.

The "Modern View," a Jewish weekly of St. Louis, will dedicate a bronze bust of Emile Zola, in honor of the fight he made in the Dreyfus case.

For that fight Zola deserves honor. Of his writings generally it may be said that the world would have been at least as well off without them.

Zola's work was an elaboration of his theory, "every man has within him a hog asleep," and he wrote once too often in a way to wake up that hog.

The world needs writers that allows the hog to sleep on, emphasizing the good in men, and increasing it.

Rupert Hughes annoys good people by writing that George Washington married for money and land; also manufactured alcoholic drinks. That is not important. The important thing is that Washington beat the British. All men drank in his day and cursed and swore except a few Quakers, who didn't curse, but did drink.

Jefferson recommended a good English brewer to the legislature, because, said he, only light beer and wine could cure Americans of drinking too much whisky. Jefferson imported his wine from France.

That shocks some of us now, but it is doubtful whether an ice water diet would have made him write a better Declaration of Independence.

In Day's News

The observance of "History Week" which begins throughout the United States today will be directed by a national committee of which the chairman is Albert J. Beveridge, former United States senator from Indiana. Since his retirement from the senate in 1911 Mr. Beveridge has devoted himself to historical research and writings with such success that he has won a place among the eminent American historians. His life of John Marshall has been pronounced by critics to be one of the best biographies written by an American author or in many years. Mr. Beveridge began as a farmer's boy, then resorted to railroading as a day laborer, and then to logging and teaming. He worked his way through DePauw University and after his graduation became a successful lawyer and an orator of national reputation.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

THE TROUBLERS ARE THE TROUBLED

A sentence worth pasting in the proverbial hat and remembering is

The troubling are also the troubled.

Those six words explain a lot in life. They help give perspective to the irritations of the day.

In the schoolroom the children hard to manage who cause most of the trouble are the ones who are troubled themselves—who are in some sort of ill health, who have poor home environment, who are unhappy.

In large families where one child occasions more worry than all the rest he is usually one who is troubled with poorer health or more highly strung nerves.

Ill-health of some sort is the secret of most of the cantakerousness of childhood.

Among grown-ups the trouble makers are also the troubled.

The criminal class is, almost without exception, composed of those who are physically or mentally sick.

The jealous husband or wife is a trouble maker who is troubled. He lives in constant torment himself, tortured by his doubts and suspicions.

The cruel are often those who themselves are tormented by fear.

The sarcastic, cutting tongue often indicates inward wounds that have never healed.

Dyspepsia and constipation are responsible for a large share of the ill humor in the world.

The braggart is troubled with a secret sense of being inferior, the surly person hides behind the mask of his sensitive timidness, the irritable person has nerves stretched to the breaking point.

The nagging woman is usually worried, nervous, overworked.

Socrates' famous sentence: "The men and women who are gentle and good are also happy and the unjust and evil are miserable," derives much of its truth from the obverse fact that the happy are usually gentle and good, the miserable unjust and evil.

KEEPING IT DARK.

At a dinner party the guests were discussing whether women or men were the most trustworthy in business.

"No woman can keep a secret" said one man, scornfully.

"I don't know about that" retorted the forbidding looking woman sitting opposite him. "I've kept my age a secret ever since I was 24."

"Oh" he replied; "you'll let it out one day, though."

"I doubt it' she answered. "When a woman has kept a sceret for 20 years she can keep it for ever."—Tid-Bits, London.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

HAVE ANOTHER?

Prohibition has not caused the American people as yet to forget the suggestion made so often in the old days across the Bar, or across the table: "Have another!" That question never did have a place, or mean anything outside of America. Some Americans today who travel abroad, have had occasion to learn to their discomfiture that the question was taboo outside the confines of their Nation. One who was not in the know, taking a drink with some British friends in London recently said lightly, "Let's" have another", and he was warned most solemnly that if he said that again, it would cost him champagne for the crowd. It has cost many of our citizens a like penalty. To the Britisher the question implies that he is not capable of judging for himself when he should take another drink.

I remember a story of long ago. I was a member of a happy party dining out. A member of the party was a fine Southern gentleman of the Old School. Another member was a very cautious young man. One of the party, late in the evening, suggestion in the usual parlance, "Have another"? The cautious young man said "No, I think I have had enough."

The Southern Colonel thereupon with great dignity addressed the cautious young man and said. "Young man, it was the custom in my set when I was a youth, for the fathers to educate their sons so well that no gentleman ever took so much liquor at one time that he could not take another."

It is probable that if this "Have another" proposition had never found its place among the American people,—in other words, if the treating habit had not fastened itself so strongly upon the Nation, there would have been no occasion for the Eighteenth Amendment. The people would have been a temporate people. Likewise, if the youths of the Nation had been educated in the same manner spoken of by the Southern Colonel, it would have been better for all of us.

Just Folks

BIG BOY GENE

But one remembered big boy Gene!
Some thirty years ago, a lad,
Crippled, and pale and, oh, so sad,
Past all men's skill to help. Intent
On learning, begged that he be sent
To school that he might share the joys
Life lavishes on healthy boys.

The first day big boy Gene looked out
And saw the wheel chair with the lad,
So pale, so helpless and so sad,
It troubled him. He quit the throng
And said: "I'll carry you, I'm strong."
Into his arms he took the child
And walked upstairs and proudly smiled.

For four years never came a day
But when arrived that cripple's chair,
The big boy Gene was waiting there.
No other ever thought to ask
For what was Gene's self-chosen task,
And to the end of school he bore
That sad, pale friend from floor to floor.

The twisted frame was called to rest,
And time makes dim the passing scene,
But one remembered the big boy Gene.
"I'll tell this story now," wrote he,
"That it may live in memory."
And I repeat it, best I can,
Because I know big Gene, the man.

POEMS I LOVE

BY CHARLES HANSON TOWNE

"Duna," By Marjorie L. C. Pickthall.

Miss Pickthall, a Canadian poet and story-writer, died recently in the height of her fame. Her death was a great loss to literature. Her verse was spontaneous, and delicately wrought. She had moments of high inspiration, a lyric gift of no mean order. Many of her shorter pieces have a haunting quality which cannot be denied. For instance, this set of verses remains in the memory almost singing itself.

When I was a little lad
With folly on my lips,
Fain was I for journeying
All the sea in ships.
But now across the southern swell,
Every dawn I hear
The little streams of Duna
Running clear.

When I was a young man,
Before my beard was grey,
All to ships and sailormen
I gave my heart away,
But I'm weary of the sea-wind,
I'm weary of the foam,
And the little stars of Duna
Call me home.

Start Campaign For Relief Fund

United Jewish Campaign Started At Meeting Here Sunday

PERELMAN PRESIDES DURING MEETING

New Castle's drive to secure its share of $25,000,000 fund to be raised in the United Jewish campaign for alleviation of conditions in Eastern and Central Europe started Sunday afternoon with a mass meeting held in Tifereth Israel synagogue, South Jefferson street. The meeting was largely attended and J. F. Perelman was the presiding chairman.

Chairman Perelman outlined the purpose of the campaign and Attorney Mark Rabinovitz explained the necessity of cooperation.

Rabbi Moses Rosenthal, who has been in the United States 11 months and who spent 10 years as a rabbi in Kiev, Poland, spoke with authority on the conditions prevalent in Eastern and Central Europe.

He was followed by Rabbi Israel Rosenthal of Scranton, Pa., who made a wonderful appeal to the persons present and the response was very good.

The campaign committee will make a thorough canvas this week, and the first meeting of the committee to hear reports on pledges will be held tonight.

To Help Children

The United Jewish Campaign being conducted now in Western Pennsylvania for $600,000 is part of a nation-wide Drive for $25,000,000 for relief and reconstructive work among, particularly, the Jews of Eastern and Central European countries. The money is administered by the Joint Distribution Committee, which has in the past 10 years expended in relief and reconstructive work more than $60,000,000. Mr. Albert C. Lehman is chairman of the Western Pennsylvania campaign.

The Joint Distribution committee carries on with the money contributed child feeding and child-care work; gives medical aid; feeds, clothes and shelters the destitute, of whom there are hundreds of thousands in Europe; establishes trade schools and makes vocational training available; gives aid to loan kassas; helps agricultural settlements; and undertakes to do whatever else is needed to establish the Jews of Europe on their own rehabilitated, self-supporting, and self-reliant. There is a tremendous amount of this kind of work to be done, and unless the Joint Distribution committee has money it can not go on.

New Explanation Given To Solve Barrel Mystery

One of the indoor sports in the city, prevalent at this time, is trying to account for the barrel which was unearthed in North Mercer street by workmen of the New Castle Water company.

Mont Oliphant is the latest to come through with an explanation and to buttress his opinion, Mont brought in an old history of Lawrence County.

Back in the early days this county was infested with rattlesnakes. It was also considered good form to have a barrel of whisky in the house. The connection between the two is left to those better posted in the effects of snake bite, but at any rate, whisky was a commodity bought and sold much like calico, wagon wheels and ring bologna.

Somewhere near 1805, John Wilson was returning from Thomas Hendrickson's distillery, near Mahoningtown, with a barrel of whisky on a cart drawn by oxen. The oxen became frightened, perhaps at a rattlesnake and in some way the barrel fell upon Mr. Wilson, killing him. This is one of the earliest deaths in the county, caused by hard liquor.

This is Mr. Oliphant's suggestion. That the early settlers were Scotch, that they were superstitions, and that they buried the barrel of whisky near the Pokeberry Exchange, which stood at what is now the corner of Mercer and North streets.

Now you tell one.

Defendants Ordered To Give Security For Costs On Judgments

Opinions were handed down by Judge Hildebrand this morning in several cases in which judgments were appealed from aldermen's cases. In the case of Schwartz Bros. against S. A. Levine the defendant is given until November 15 to give security for costs in double the amount of the claim. The court finds that so many cases of this character have been filed that it looks as though it was done for the purpose of delay.

A similar ruling was made in the case of Lastik Products Company against Tito Princepessa, the defendant being given until November 15 to give security for costs in double the amount of the claim.

In the case of a Ford coupe seized in the transportation of liquor and sold by the sheriff, the sheriff is directed to pay a claim of the Commercial Credit Company.

Illinois Mayor Shot And Killed In Gang Warfare

Williamson County, Illinois, In State Of Turmoil Over Pair Of Killings

INNOCENT YOUTH IS ALSO KILLED

(International News Service)

MARION, Ill., Nov. 8.—Entire Williamson county was aroused again today over the latest flareup in southern Illinois' bootleg warfare which Saturday night resulted in the killing of Mayor Jeff Stone, 51, of Colp, near Herrin, and John "Apie" Milroy, 21, who ran to Stone's assistance. Chief of Police John Keef, who was with Stone, was shot in the hand.

Several witnesses, who have been reluctant to give any information which might lead to the identity of the man who fired the volley of machine gun and the rifle bullets were summoned by Coroner George Bell for the inquest here today.

The killing of Mayor Stone and Milroy was executed with the finesse of a Chicago gang killing. More than a hundred shots were fired from machine guns mounted in automobiles.

Mayor Stone was recently exonerated on the grounds of self defense of the slaying of John Freeman, a deputy sheriff and political foe.

While Stone's death was sought, it is believe young Milroy's death was accidental in that he was caught in the cross-fire of the two gangs.

Arena in Which Hall-Mills Battle Is Being Waged

This is a general view of the courtroom at Somerville, N. J., where Mrs. Frances Stevens-Hall, Willie Stevens and Henry Stevens, her brothers, are on trial for the Hall-Mills murders. They are being defended by Robert McCarter, and prosecuted by Alexander Simpson before Judge Frank Cleary and Justice Charles Parker. Charlotte Mills, daughter of the slain woman, was on the stand when this picture was made.

(International Newsreel.)

WITNESS DECLARES HE SAW HER ON NIGHT OF CRIME

cently that one of those she saw here was Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, who, with "Willie" and Henry Stevens, are on trial for the murder. She also said "Willie" was there.

Was In Lane

Erling, a young man with rusty brown hair and a hesitant voice, said when questioned by Prosecutor Alexander Simpson that he was in De Russey's lane on the night of September 14, 1922.

"Did you see Mrs. Gibson there?"

"Yes. I was in an automobile and she passed on a mule and looked in. I turned my head away."

"What time did you see her there that night?"

"About 10 o'clock."

It has been estimated that the murders were committed some time between 9:30 and 11 p. m. that night.

Robert H. McCartner, the portly, gray-haired, florid-faced chief counsel for the defense, took the witness over for cross-examination.

"Who was with you that night in the automobile?" asked McCarter.

"A woman."

"How long were you there?"

"About an hour and a half."

"What was the name of the woman?"

"I refuse to say."

McCarter demanded Erling tell him who she was.

Objects to Telling

Simpson objected vigorously.

"I hold, your honor, that this is an exceptional instance where the witness is not required to answer. The woman might be married and it would ruin her."

"I insist on knowing the woman's name," thundered McCarter.

The presiding judges, Charles W. Parker and Frank L. Cleary, held a whispered conference.

Judge Parker then turned to the witness and asked him why he did not wish to tell the woman's name.

Erling hung his head, then said: "Your honor, the woman is married. She is the mother of two children."

The justices conferred again and Judge Parker told the witness he must tell the woman's name.

"Her name is Jennie Lamfort", said Erling in a barely audible tone.

Erling testified he had supper at the girl's home and then drove her to De Russey's lane in his Ford touring car. They remained in the lane two or three hours.

"I think you said a while ago you were in the lane an hour and a half", interjected McCarter.

Simpson came through like a streak of lightning with a correction.

"The witness testified he had been in the lane an hour and a half up to the time he saw Mrs. Gibson".

The court agreed with Simpson.

The married name of Jennie Lamfort was not revealed by Erling. Simpson objected to that being done and the court sustained the objection.

While Erling was on the stand Simpson took occasion to remark upon his action in having Mrs. Gibson, who is ill, removed yesterday from the Somerset hospital to a hospital in Jersey City, the prosecutor's home town.

She was taken to Jersey City, he said, because she expressed the desire that her child be with her and the child could be best accommodated in that city. Simpson said he was surprised that his move had created such a furore.

While in the lane, Erling said he and the girl left the car after a time and went for a walk.

"How long of a walk and how far?" McCarter asked.

"About an hour or an hour and a half."

"Where were you when you saw the woman come along on her mule?"

"In the car."

"Did you hear any shots?"

"No."

"Did you hear any rickety wagon passing?"

"No."

"Did you hear any screams?"

"No."

"Did any cars pass you?"

"Yes."

"Which way were they going?"

"In the direction of Hamilton avenue, one was a Ford sedan."

"What was the other one?"

"A touring car."

Walter R. Scott, assistant state registrar of vital statistics at Trenton, was called to the stand after Erling was excused.

Scott identified a report on the death of Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills.

Call Fingerprint Expert.

The certificates were signed by Dr. W. H. Long, Somerset county physician, and showed the bodies were buried without autopsies.

Frederick Drewen, fingerprint expert, was then called to the stand. He testified that on Aug. 12, 1926, the day Willie Stevens was arrested on the murder charge, he took Willie's fingerprints in the state troopers' barracks in Somerville. He came at the instigation of Inspector John Underwood.

"Have these prints remained in your possession in Jersey City?" McCarter asked.

"Yes, except when I came to Somerville with them."

Simpson alleged the line of questioning was irrelevant. McCarter replied that it was not, that he wanted to see if the fingerprints got into anybody else's hands, and if so, whose hands. This provoked a debate.

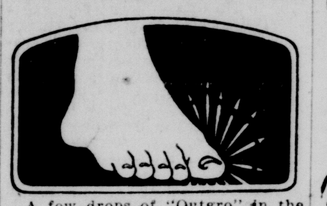
Ingrown Nail

Turns Right Out Itself



A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

Have Battle To Subdue Prisoner

While the procession of members of St. Mary's parish was making the visit to four local churches here Sunday afternoon, one of which was St. Michael's church on Moravia street, Frank Lesnick was standing at the Gardner avenue viaduct. For some reason known only to himself he started cursing and passing unpleasant remarks to the members of the procession, and the police were notified.

Motorcycle Officers Augostine and Richards were detailed and had a battle with Lesnick before he was subdued and taken to the police station. He struck both officers and damaged the clothing of Augostine to a considerable extent. He had an open knife, which Augostine took from him.

He had to be handcuffed and his legs tied before he could be removed to the jail. This morning it was found that he had been stopping at a local welfare place, owing to lack of funds, and that he had no visible means of support. He was discharged upon promising to leave town at once.

Beginning of a New Life for Her

Remarkable Story of a Visitor to the City Yesterday

How She Prayed for Release From Pain and How She Found Health

Mrs. Mary Snider, a lady of mature years, living in Pittsburgh, Pa., called on Health Evangelist Dyar a few days ago to renew an acquaintance made about four years ago. Her story is so remarkable that she consented to let it be told. No one to look at her now would believe that at that time she was a physical wreck, praying for release from her suffering. Let her tell it:

"When I first met Health Evangelist Dyar, I was practically bedridden. My daughter had been helped by World's Tonic and she asked the Health Evangelist to call on me. I sat up that day and my husband weighed me. He found I weighed only 84 pounds.

"My troubles started with pains in my back that sometimes extended down my leg. I thought they were rheumatic until one awful night in February when they felt like a knife cutting into me. Then I called the doctor and he said the pain was caused by gall stones. They got so bad that a surgeon removed them and for a while I had peace, but I didn't get well. I had always been bilious and somehow my food failed to agree with me. My daughter would not sleep with me, because my breath was so foul, and my skin became yellow and repulsive. Nobody seemed to know what was the matter, but before long I began again to pass little gall stones like gravel, and I feared another operation would soon be necessary.

"At that time the Health Evangelist was asked to call on me. I'll never forget that day. He was so kind and sympathetic. He told me he thought all of my troubles were due to catarrh. I could hardly believe him, but when he told me every symptom I had, even the gall stones, could be produced by arch enemy to mankind, I agreed to try World's Tonic.

"For two weeks the medicine appeared to be doing nothing. Then I noticed a bit of improvement. I kept at World's Tonic steadily, and you can easily see what it did for me. Every sign of gall stones has disappeared; my skin is rosy and clear and I weigh 135 pounds. That day when Mr. Dyar called was the beginning of a new life for me."

World's Tonic has many such cases to its credit. It can be obtained at Paisley's, McKee's Kut Rate Store, Smith's and Eckerd's Inc. of New Castle or any other good druggists.

Accuse Man Of Taking Girl To Warren, Ohio

Jack Santell, Oak Harbor, Ohio, was arrested Sunday by the city police on suspicion that he was the man wanted in connection with the case involving Stella Weimer, also known as Stella Pogue and Stella Evans, of 107 Atlantic avenue.

This morning, the girl, who was brought back here from Ohio by her mother, identified Santell as the man who had taken her to Warren, O., and allegedly attempted to force her to stay in a house there. Santell was at once turned over to Alderman William E. Marshall where a serious charge in keeping with the offense was made against him by County Detective, George S. Kennedy. The girl, who is sixteen years of age, was married this morning to a man named Evans, whom she met after her alleged experience with Santell at Warren, O.

Tanlac Is Guardian of Her Health

Extreme Nervousness and Upset Stomach Relieved. Strength Restored. Says Tanlac Adds Years to Life

"I thought my days were at an end", says Mrs. Sarah Vose, 63 Wells St., Kingston, Pa., whose marvelous recovery from a long siege of suffering surprised her closest friends.

If you never feel well and just drag through the days, tired and fagged-out; if your stomach rebels at food and you spend miserable hours doubled up with indigestion; if you do not sleep soundly and dizzy spells attack you when you stoop over; if you are losing weight, feel old—watch out!

Mrs. Vose says: "For 5 years I had been going down in health and an attack of "flu" followed by pleurisy left me in bad shape. I could not eat or sleep. And could barely walk from one room to the other. Suffering from indigestion, being unable to sleep and getting up in the morning tired, sapped my strength.

"Frantically I sought relief. Everything I took failed to help me. Then, my niece, a private nurse, suggested that I try Tanlac. The first bottle gave me an appetite. Indigestion soon disappeared. I began to sleep better. Soon my nerves calmed down.

"Today I feel better than I have in years. All my thanks to Tanlac".

Mrs. Vose is only one of thousands who have found happy relief from pain and gained new strength taking Tanlac. It helps build up the body, wipe out poisons and suffering. Heed their advice. Keep up—take Tanlac.

What they heard was this:

"He is the devil."

And that was as tangible as the woman evangelist became.

"But I will expose him if it is the last thing I do before I die," she stated.

Democrats See Strong Rebuff To President

Declare Recent Elections Indicate End Of Coolidge As 1928 Candidate

OPPOSE PLAN OF INCOME TAX REBATE

Believe Coolidge Wanted To Eliminate Self Through His Silence

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The Democrats have already started to strew flowers on the figurative political grave of Calvin Coolidge—as a result of the off-year election.

Democratic gossiping to the effect that the losses suffered by the administration in last week's elections have made Mr. Coolidge "unavailable" for renomination in 1928 broke out today in a more sedate form by the issuance of a statement by Senator Kenneth McKellar (D) of Tennessee, making the same claim.

The most conspicuous result of the election is the likely elimination of President Coolidge from the presidential picture of 1928," said McKellar. "Perhaps he wanted to eliminate himself. His failure to do or say anything for his party generally would so imply.

"It would have been infinitely better for the president's prestige for him to come out boldly and courageously for the election of a Republican congress, even though he lost, rather than limiting his activities to having his picture taken with Senator Wadsworth and coming out alone for his personal friend, Senator Butler.

"He pinned his faith to these two senators and both were defeated. Therefore, it cannot be claimed for him that he was responsible in any way for the other results of the election. The senate and house have exceedingly small Republican majorities, it is true, but these were elected in spite of the president, not because of him.

"The result of the election is such a blow to his prestige that in my opinion it cannot be overcome, and I do not believe he will be a candidate in 1928. I believe he will follow the example of President Roosevelt in 1908 in not being a candidate for a third term under the established traditions of the republic."

In their plans to capitalize to its utmost the political reverses suffered by the Republicans last week, the Democrats are preparing to charge that President Coolidge's coming out for a 10 or 12 per cent tax rebate at this time is "a desperate bid to recover political ground" after last Tuesday's setback.

The Democrats will oppose the president's plan and insist instead upon a clear-cut horizontal tax reduction in keeping with the huge treasury surplus. The fighting will be sharp, and if both sides stick to their programs it is not improbable a stalemate will be the result. The Republicans would be hard put to enact the president's rebate without Democratic assistance, and the Democrats would be powerless to pas stheir straight reduction bill without Republican votes.

Lines Being Drawn.

The Democrats who charge politics to the White House in sponsoring the rebate plan point out that up until two weeks ago both President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon were opposed to any reduction at this session of congress. Now after election, they declare, the Republican leadership has changed its position to "recover lost political ground".

The lines are being drawn, as a result, for a sanguinary conflict in the forthcoming "lame-duck" session, which expires by statute on March 4. If no tax legislation is accomplished than an extra session of the 70th congress, elected last Tuesday, early in the summer to cut taxes becomes more than a mere possibility. In that congress the administration has a debatable amount of control.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was first to find the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in 1,000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent and then decided it should be sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from McKee's Cut Rate Store and Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands and will do the same for you.

Foil Attempt Of Durkin To Gain Freedom

Find Hack-Saw Blades In Cell Occupied By Famous "Bandit Sheik"

International News Service)

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Jail officials today were seeking to trace the source of four steel hack saw blades found in the cell of Martin Durkin, notorious "shooting sheik" who is awaiting transportation to Joliet to begin serving a term for murder.

The saws were found secreted in Durkin's cot by Warden Edward Fogarty after the latter had received a tip that Durkin was planning a desperate attempt to escape, sometime before Friday, the day of his scheduled move to Joliet.

The killer was in the jail court taking his exercise when Fogarty and his assistants invaded the cell. When Durkin returned and found the saws gone he raved like a mad man. He was quieted by threats of solitary confinement.

Durkin is under combined sentences of 45 years, 35 of which were imposed by a jury for the murder of Federal Agent Edwin C. Shanahan.

Now that you are free of such unsightly things, people will welcome you—like to see you and talk to you, instead of making excuses to keep out of your way.

When S. S. S. starts charging through your blood, skin troubles fade away. Your whole system is improved—nerves strengthened—appetite returns—strength and power comes back into flabby muscles—you feel like yourself again.

S. S. S. is sold by all druggists. Get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

Its shining, solid copper tub is the most cheerful thing in the house—and it's easier to keep clean than baby's "prying" hands.

That's why we call the Easy the most sanitary washer.

Ellwood Wins By Close Score

Zelienople Team Proves Greater Foe Than Was Anticipated

ONE TOUCHDOWN IS ENTIRE SCORE

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Nov. 8.—Zelienople High School journeyed to Ellwood Saturday with the aim to "Beat Ellwood," altho they outplayed the locals for the best part of the game, they did not have the power to push the ball over and Ellwood won by a score of 6-0. Sanders scored the lone touchdown of the game.

The result of the game was a surprise to the local fans who expected to have an easy game. Ellwood didn't seem to be able to get going right. They would make a couple of nice gains, then either a penalty, fumble or incomplete pass would force them to kick.

The two Nesbitt brothers were the main reason for the good showing made by Zelienople team. "Dutch" Nesbitt, the quarterback is a triple threat man. His punting, passing and running have not been excelled by anyone who has played here this year. Ray Nesbitt on end is a fine player, both on the defense and offense. He is also a bear at catching forward passes.

Sanders, Johnston and MacMurdo did good work for the Ellwood team. Sanders was used as a battering ram and tore thru the line for some big gains. Johnston ran the ends ragged. He heaved a beaut of a pass to Demas for a 30 yard gain in the second quarter. Jim MacMurdo did great work on the defensive.

Ellwood outscored Zelienople in first downs by getting 14 to 10. However, Ellwood only made 2 first downs in the last half and one of these was made by a 15 yard penalty. Zelienople made 6 first downs in the last half. Zelienople totalled 107 yards on forward passes while Ellwood totalled 46.

There is no reason why Ellwood should not have had a larger score for they made 225 yards from scrimmage while Zelienople could only make 120 yards. Ellwood's touchdown was scored in the second quarter. It came after a 72 yard march down the field. Wilson and Sanders gained 5 between them and Justine added 9 more to make a first down, after Don had lost 4 on an end run, and Wilson had gained two thru the line. Sanders tossed a 10 yard pass to Demas, Justine made another first down on the next play by tearing off 7 yards. Sanders broke away thru the line and made 14 yards on the next play for a first down on the Zelienople 30. He gained 5 more on the next play and Fanno added 2 more. Sanders fumbled on the next play but Jim recovered for a first down on the 18 yard line. Fanno got 6 and Johnston and Sanders each got 3 for a first down on the 6 yard line. Zelienople was penalized to the 1 yard line and Sanders took it over on two plays. Clyde made the kick.

Zelienople came near to Ellwood's line twice during the game but were stopped each time. In the first quarter they reached the 8 yard line and in the fourth quarter they reached the 13 yard line.

Woolworth Company Defendant In Suit

Sum Of $6,250 Asked As Result Of Injuries To Helen L. Newton

The case of Helen L. Newton, aged 7 years, by her father, Omar L. Newton of Wayne township, and Omar L. Newton in his own right against F. W. Woolworth company, is on trial before Judge Hildebrand in the Lawrence county court today.

The case is one in which Helen L. Newton was injured by falling glass at the Woolworth store on June 14, 1924. On that date the Woolworth company had about 100 pounds of candy in glass jars in a show window of their store. The jars were standing on top of each other with glass slabs between to a height of about four feet.

Helen L. Newton was entering the store with her grandmother, Carrie L. Newton, when the glass jars tumbled down and broke the show window. Helen was so badly cut on one hand that it is claimed that she has lost the use of the third finger on her right hand.

Her father asks $1250 for loss of her services until 21 and for doctor and hospital bills, while $5000 is asked for injury to the girl's hand.

Princess Pleads Cause Of Exiled Salesman

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ABOARD QUEEN MARIE'S SPECIAL TRAIN (in Montana) Nov. 8.—Princes Ileana of Roumania defied the distinctions of social caste today and pleaded the cause of an exiled friend, a youthful American automobile salesman, "Bunny" Ayres, known as J. B. Ayres on the Ford Automobile Company payroll, who wears a raccoon coat and has a breezy way.

He was fired from the royal train for "making statements", but the princess believes it was because he took her out motoring and to the Washington-California football game in Seattle.

"It is a shame", declared her highness today. "He was a nice boy and it was I who asked him to go out driving with me."

The pretty princess has taken the matter to Col. John H. Carroll, acting for the railroads as host to her majesty, and there is every reason to believe that Ayres will rejoin the party at Denver.

Ayres, who is not backward about putting forward the merits of the make of car he is supplying the royal party along their transcontinental route, told newspaper men it was costing Henry Ford $250,000 A press association quoted Ayres as saying Ford was paying the incidental expenses of Queen Marie's trip to the extent of $500,000. Ayres denied the latter statement.

This all happened Saturday, the same day "Bunny" Ayres, with Princess Ileana at the wheel, had a mile-a-minute ride over the scenic lined highway from Burlington to Seattle, punctuated by a lunch at the side of the road.

Tuberculosis And Typhoid Death Rate Show Large Decrease

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 8.—Charts showing the results of the untiring fight which has been waged against the two dread killers—typhoid fever and tuberculosis—were shown in the vital statistics bulletin published today by the State Department of Health.

Since 1906 when accurate records of death causes were first tabulated the death rate for typhoid fever has decreased 91 per cent. In the same time tuberculosis has decreased 48 per cent according to the chart.

The report also carried a table showing the death rate for five diseases, based on each 100 persons affected. The death rate on that basis was the highest for typhoid fever with 18.5 per cent, while dyphtheria was second with 10.5 per cent. The death rate for whooping cough was 5.8, for measles 1.1 and scarlet fever 1.3.

Complete reports for mortality in July last, also were carried in the bulletin. Delay in making death reports to the health department and a careful check on the figures usually is responsible for several months delay before the final percentages can be shown.

The death rate during July was normal although slightly higher than in recent years. West Chester had the highest death rate among the cities with an average of 28.2 per cent for each 1,000 persons. Dickson City was the lowest with 1.9.

Bethlehem, Chester, Erie, Harrisburg, Lancaster, New Castle, Philadelphia, Scranton and Wilkinsburg all showed marked increases in the death rate over the same month a year ago. Bradford and Pottsville showed the greatest percentage decrease.

Rags Madera May Enter Pro Ring

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 8.—Rags Madera, former Penn State boxing captain and one-time intercollegiate heavyweight titleholder, has returned to the campus and is now going through a daily training routine in preparation for what may be a professional ring career.

The big Pittsburgh boy's career at Penn State was interrupted by a broken leg, suffered in the memorable football game with Harvard in 1921. Although in the hospital for more than a year, the big fellow returned to his studies and finally received his degree last June. Fully recovered from his injury, he has returned to his old love, the boxing game, and if he finds that he can get back into prime condition he may set out on a career that will eventually lead him to a crack at Gene Tunney's crown.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

DAVID JAMESON
Editor News,
New Castle, Pa.

Dear Sir:—Having noticed in the News several items of commendation of the acts of this wonderful man, and having had the pleasure of an intimate lifelong acquaintance, not only with him, but with his parents, and feeling some of the present generation will wonder from what source this wonderful man came, and having had the pleasure of becoming intimately acquainted with his parents more than 60 years ago, I feel it will be interesting to the readers of The News to know something of his ancestry.

David's father was a successful business man, his greatest asset being strict integrity and he enjoyed the confidence of all who knew him. His mother, one of the most lovable Christian women the world ever knew, seemed to have been born to determine how helpful she could be to all who needed assistance. David, one of a large family of children, white hair, stood straight up, characteristic of his whole life. In early life he studied in anticipation of becoming an attorney, but having very unusual business ability and having a long range of business vision, in early life he began actively and successfully.

His integrity in business and the success that followed him soon attracted the attention of those higher up who were only too glad to have him associated with them.

David seemed to be most happy when he was hunting up someone who had been unfortunate and whom he could be helpful to, and were the names of such a group as he has administered to to be written, they would fill a book. I speak from personal knowledge. There came a time in my own experience when the clouds hung very low and when the path was very narrow and precipitous. I came to a point where I took David by the hand and it seemed instantly as though I was transformed to a new man, and I am only one among that great group who are ready to commend him for his loyalty and generosity.

Now for the gift of his life—funds sufficient to build and equip a wonderful hospital—how many men of like means would have caused to be erected a cold marble monument which the passerby would have glanced at and would have been meaningless, but the heart of this great man anticipated more. Some place where the sufferer could lie down and be treated and relieved in a measure at least, of their troubles. Who, I ask, who shall enjoy such privileges can ever forget such an act of kindness? Oh, that there were more such men! And now permit me to suggest that those of us, fathers and mothers who have lived at a time they have had the pleasure of walking along life's journey side by side with this great friend, should feel it our duty to instill in the minds of our children the perpetuation along down the pathway of life the memory of this great friend.

Man Shoots Suitor Who Admires Wife

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Nov. 8.—Dennis Corcoran, 43, received numerous flesh wounds last night outside William Lantzer's residence between Wilmot and Winesburg.

Lantzer, who, October 29, fired twice through the door to frighten Corcoran, shot him last night through an upstairs window with a shotgun. Corcoran, who, it is said, renewed threats against Lantzer's wife, a former acquaintance, crawled 500 yards to the abandoned Chestnut Ridge church, where Sheriff George Stucky and two deputies found him. He was removed to Union Hospital, where it is expected he will recover.

Authorities will prefer charges against Lantzer, they said.

Try Serving Beets This Way.

After beets are cooked until tender drop in cold water, remove skins and slice small. Add one and one-half tablespoons sugar, one-third cup vinegar, two thirds cup water, return to fire and add salt and thicken with a litle cornstarch These are called Harvard beets.

Ousted Pastor Plans Fight

Manila Pastor, Accompanied By Filipino's, Reach United States

HOUSE-BOY STEALS WATCH

(International News Service)

MANILA, Nov. 8.—Reverend Leslie Wolfe and two Filipino champions of fundamentalism are on their way to fight for their faith in the annual convention of the Churches of Christ at Memphis, Tennessee.

Because he insisted on the enforcement of total immersion as requisite to church membership, Rev. Wolfe was ousted from his place as missionary by the local board, controlled by modernists. The Filipino members of the church are standing by Rev. Wolfe, and refuse to let the modernist substitute of Rev. Wolfe preach in the church.

The modernist-fundamentalist fight has been waged vigorously for the past six months. Each side has started publications that are of a virile, not to say vitriolic tone. The modernist organ is an editorial dubbed by the fundamentalists with the title of "tomcats," and said the opposition editor was wielding a "poison pen," and accused the fundamentalist writers as "theological sharp-shooters and doctrinal gunmen."

Meliton Guerrero, house-boy, was convicted two years ago of stealing his master's watch. The other day he was released from Bilibid prison and found that his former employer was in the hospital. Visiting him there, Meliton again stole his watch. He is now in Bilibid for the second time.

Judge Albert Marcos of the insular courts has been accused of holding court in his pajamas. Complaints have been made to Governor General Wood by lawyers who considered the judge was not upholding the dignity of the court.

A Manobo chieftain calling himself the second Allah is gathering his followers at the foot of Mount Kibubud, in the Mohammedan country. Constabulary forces are keeping close watch on "Allah," but no open revolt is feared. His activities are believed to have something to do with the recent theft of cattle from farmers in that region.

For every hundred pearls obtained from the beds off the coast of the Sulu archipelago, in the southern Philippines, one human life is sacrificed, says Dr. Albert W. Herre, chief of the division of fisheries of the Philippine government.

When Enrique Gonzaga of Occidental Negroes shot and killed a person who was trying to enter his house at three o'clock in the morning, he thought he had dispatched a burglar. Instead he had shot Fausto Estilita, the lover of a young woman of the household. Fausto was shot while climbing a ladder leading to the girl's room.

VERDICTS END SUITS TO COMPEL PAYMENT BY SURETY INTEREST

BUTLER, Pa., Nov. 8.—Verdicts aggregating $18,000 were returned in common pleas court against the Southern Surety Company, an Iowa concern, in the suits of the Bessemer Limestone & Cement Company and the New Castle Lime & Stone Company.

The suits were the outcome of the failure of George Walters & Son Company of Butler to complete construction of a strip of highway at Chicora and Donegal township in 1922. The liability of the bonding company has been the subject of litigation since the failure.

The RIM of The LIMELIGHT

MEDICINE HAT, Alberta, Can.—Whether you like it or not you're going to have a hard winter—one that will demand lots of coal, quinine and extra quilts. At least all the weather forecasters here—the garden variety—say so. They back up their predictions by pointing to what they call perfectly obvious signs, the heavy growth of moss on the trees, the deep burrowing of animals who seek a nice spot in the ground over winter, and the raising price of fuel.

JUDGE IS ANSWERED

LONDON, — Believe it or not but during the proceedings of a court on circuit in Ireland, with the windows of the building open, while Curran, the famous Irish advocate, was addressing the court, a donkey in an adjoining field happened to bray loudly. The judge, intervening, said: "Excuse me, Mr. Curran, one at a time, please."

Curran bowed acquiescence, and then proceeded with his speech. Later when the judge was delivering his charge to the jury, the donkey again brayed, on which Curran arose and said: "I am sorry, my lord, but there seems to be such and echo that I can scarcely make out what your lordship is saying."

Navy And Bucknell At State Saturday

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 8. Bucknell in football and Navy in soccer will be two old rivals to be faced by Penn State on Saturday when students of the Nittany institution will celebrate Pennsylvania Day, the annual fall house party holiday. While the football game will be the leading attraction for central Pennsylvania fans, interest in the soccer tilt is unusually keen.

This is due to the fact that a year ago the Navy defeated Penn State and broke a winning streak that had extended over seven seasons. The Lion booters are eager to avenge the defeat this week when the Middies come here, and they also hope to keep their intercollegiate league slate clean. Syracuse and the University of Pennsylvania have already been defeated in league matches and the Lions hope to win the intercollegiate title in their first season as members of the league.

Saving for a rainy day is fine. But buy your coal now so you can give winter a warm welcome.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Nov. 8.—The United States shipping board vessel Westward Ho which grounded near Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., Sunday morning was resting safely when last heard from and may be refloated today according to advices received at the navy radio station in Anastasia island near here.

The freighter is believed to have a complement of 40 men. A coast guard cutter was standing by the Westward Ho last night.

This isn't such a fast age. People hurry to and from work, not at work.

Why One Woman Bought at Home—

An incident with a moral for those who Labor under the delusion that furnishings may be more economically purchased elsewhere.

I buy at home—Why?

Because my Interests are here.

Because the community that is good enough for me to live in is good enough for me to buy in.

Because I believe in doing business with my friends.

Because I want to see the goods.

Because I want to get what I buy when I pay for it.

Because every dollar I spend in New Castle stays here and works for the welfare of this community.

Because the man I buy from stands back of the merchandise.

Because the man I buy from pays his part of the city, county and state taxes.

Because he has always returned value received in generous measure.

Because he who sells to me; contributes to the support of my schools, my churches, my lodges and my home.

Because should sickness, misfortune or bereavement befall me, the man I buy from is here with his kindly greeting, his word of cheer and his pocketbook if need be. Here I live and Here I buy.

I Buy at Home. Do you?

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

By Mrs. Florence Smith Vincent

A WILD GOOSE CHASE

"'Twas long ago, acushlas, and in the Land of the Sky Blue Water trees grew where one would least expect them. Well, out in the clearing one could have found great clumps of them here and there. Indeed, so I've been told, babes o' mine, there were more forests than green valleys when Wander was a pup.

"Down stream, not far from where Wander was standing, there grew on the river's bank a thick tangle of trees and brush, and as Wander jumped to his feet and whirled around he thought something moved.

"'Who's there?' barked Wander. But only the echo of his own question answered him.

"Wander stared at the brush. His eyes had never deceived him yet, and he was sure they weren't now! Something was moving in the shadows, something more than the wind among the branches, or he was no huntsman!

"'Ki, yi! Come out of that before I come in to fetch you,' yelped he.

"Again no answer save that gentle stirring. So Wander, puzzled, sat down again. But no sooner, children, had the Dog seated himself than once more the sound of that mocking laugh came faintly to his ears. And Wander looked up just in time to see from the other side of the tangled brush a paw or a claw (Wander couldn't tell which) waved at him. You should have seen Wander then! Great Dog that he was he covered the ground between him and that tangled clump in less time than it took him to wag a tail, and into the brush head first he plunged.

"'Twas no easy job even for an old hand at the game like Wander to make his way through such a brambly place. But he wriggled this way and he wriggled that; went clear through the brush to the other side, then back again to his starting place, and still no sign of a living thing! And what made it worse Wander didn't know whom he was looking for. At least he gave it up as a bad job and started for the rock. The very second he turned his back upon the brush out from the top of the tallest tree flew a big bird, which flapped its wings and cried, "Honk, honk!" and sailed down stream. Wander, who thought himself so smart, had been led a Wild Goose chase."

Policeman Slain At Steubenville

Washington, Pa.; Man Is Held For Shooting In Woman's House

STEUBENVILLE, O., Nov. 8. — Owen Burns, 39 years old, plain-clothesman of the local police force, was shot and killed last night when about to place a man under arrest.

Police are holding Albert Purring, 30 years old, of Washington, Pa., who, they say, fired the shot in the home here of Miss Rose Brown. She said she summoned Burns when Purring broke the window above the side entrance to her home and was breaking down the door after she had refused him admittance. When she heard the shattering of the glass she said, she ran into the street. When she and Burns reached the house together, police say, Purring was running through the house apparently under the influence of liquor. Police say Burns and Purring met in the kitchen and that when Burns ordered Purring to surrender, he drew a revolver and fired one shot which entered Burns' chest. He died soon afterward.

Mortak Outstanding Star In Grid Battle

New Castle High Outplayed First Half Of Game; Donora Unleashes Clever Running Attack That Bewilders Locals; Turk Catches Forward Pass For New Castle Touchdown In Third Period; Three Red And Black Players Out Of Game Due To Injuries; A. Schmidt Crashes Through For Donora Touchdown After Mortak Places Ball In Scoring Position; Turk, Ostrosky And Robinson Best Bets For New Castle High; Game Hardest Fought Of Year

By "BUGS" WALTHER

NEW CASTLE High encountered a ferocious "bearcat" Saturday afternoon at Ben Franklin field in their annual meeting with Donora High.

The locals came out of the terrific struggle on even terms, 7-7, after being somewhat worsted in the first two periods. It was a true, hard-fighting New Castle High eleven that turned the tables and scored a touchdown in the final half of the game, deadlocking the contest.

Donora High brought forth a youth answering to the name of "Johnny" Mortak for the benefit of the some 5,000 fans who jammed their way into the spacious stadium, and this same youngster distinguished himself as one of the greatest schoolboy players yet seen at Franklin field. Almost an entire football team wrapped in one individual would sum up very nicely the work of the powerful line-plunging fullback. It was Mortak who carried the ball within striking distance of the New Castle goal line; it was Mortak who skirted the ends for good gains; it was this titian-haired "dynamo" who hit the New Castle line hard, and not to mention the several 40-yard punts that he executed with the ease and grace of a veteran.

Battle Desperately.

New Castle High battled desperately against heavy odds Saturday. The Red and Black machine was hopelessly crippled and it was not until the later stages of the game that New Castle rose to the occasion and scored the touchdown that was sufficient to even the count and to aid in keeping away from the door that ticket labeled "defeat."

The New Castle line performed the Donora advances without much damage being done, but at critical points in the game the line seemed to weaken.

In the matter of downs New Castle topped the visitors by one, that is to say New Casetle gained 80 yards through scrimmage while Donora gained 70 yards via the same route. Each team tried innumerable forward passes and they each completed one. New Castle turned their lone successful attempt into a touchdown late in the third period. The game was hard fought in every quarter and the officials having their hands full in keeping track of the violations. New Castle drew a 20 yard loss via penalities and Donora came out second best in this regard with a total of 40 yards.

Using the famous "huddle" system the Anderson coached team flashed a mighty fat attack. New Castle found it extremely hard to stop the rushes of Mortak, Rumora and A Schmidt with this trio carrying the ball on sucessive plays.

First Quarter 0-0.

Captain Robinson kicked off to Donora and the ball rolled over the goal line, it was given to the visitors on the 20 yard line. Mooney the star local right guard was injured on the kickoff and was removed from the game, replaced by McIntosh. With Mortak, Rumora and A. Schmidt carrying the ball on sucessive plays the visitors gained two first downs in a row and things began to look bad for the locals but the New Castle line tightened and held the Donora backfield for downs and after several local plays had failed Robinson kicked to Donora. The battle was fought in center of the field for the greater part of the first quarter with punts being exchanged at intervals and after line plunges had failed.

New Castle high had possession of the ball on the 21 yard line as the first quarter ended. Turk and Harper were the big guns for the locals in the drive that placed New Castle within scoring distance as the quarter was brought to a close.

Lose Chance To Score.

New Castle high lost a fine chance to score at the start of the second quarter. Turk carried the ball from the 21 yard line to the 9 yard line for a first down. Sillman and Harper added five more yards on two successive plays to the 4 yard line, but New Castle was held for downs on the 2 yard line and Mortak kicked out of danger. This was only one of numerous occasions that the locals were within scoring distance only to be thwarted in their attempt to puncture the strong Donora line.

Donora took the ball after an exchange of punts on the 39 yard line, and began a series of drives down the field that netted them 34 yards with Mortak ripping off one gain of 25 yards. With the ball on the 5 yard line A. Schmidt was given the assignment and toted the ball over the goal line. Mortak kicked the extra point via a drop-kick. Donora 7, New Castle 0. McGrath was hurt on the play that gave the visitors their touchdown and Burns went it at left end for the locals.

Kirk kicked off to Rumora on the 10 yard line and the slippery Donora halfback skimmed back 15 yards before being brought down. A. Schmidt picked up 15 more at tackle, at this point the New Castle line tightened their defense and Donora was forced to kick. New Castle had the ball on the 18 yard line as the first half ended. Donora 7, New Castle 0.

Forward Pass Fools Donora.

After the customary intermission the gridders resumed the struggle with Kirk kicking off to Rumora on the 18 yard line and the Donora youth skirted back to the 23 yard line. Three Donora plays were stopped and New Castle blocked a kick by Mortak and took possession of the ball on the 28 yard line. Richards was hurt and Turk was ejected into the game again at right half. New Castle was penalized 5 yards for off side. Turk skirted right end and ran the ball to the 12 yard line, on the old "Statue of Liberty" play. Again New Castle lost the ball on downs within the 10 yard line. Mortak fumbled for Donora and Harper recovered for New Castle on the 24 yard line. Robinson went back in the game in place of Kirk. Turk made first down for New Castle on the 14 yard line. Klaber picked up 5 at tackle.

New Castle then scored their touchdown on a fine pass from Sillman to Turk, with Turk receiving the ball while standing over the goal line. The pass was good for 12 yards. Donora high was completely fooled by this piece of strategy on the part of the locals. Sillman added the extra point that deadlocked the count by a well directed place kick. Donora 7, New Castle 7.

Play for the remainder of the third period was all in the New Castle territory.

Another Chance to Score.

New Castle had possession of the ball on the 30 yard line as the fourth and final quarter got under way. Turk made it first down for the locals on the 29 yard line. Harper went through center and New

Disturbance Occurs Following Game

An effort by the Donora High football team to take possession of the ball with which the New Castle-Donora High game was played Saturday at Franklin Field, resulted in a melee at the stadium grounds after the game that was quieted by the New Castle police force.

The visitors were over-joyed at a deadlock with the New Castle outfit and proceeded to "take" the pigskin at the conclusion of the game, but the New Castle team and a crowd of fans asserted that the ball would remain in New Castle, and the disturbance resulted. The trouble was soon quelled by police.

In the season of 1883 the Boston baseball club won the National League championship with only 11 men on its roster. The club had only one regular pitcher, who was in the box practically every game.

Pitt Prepares For Wash-Jeff

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 8. — Dr. J. B. Sutherland and his corps of coaches at the University of Pittsburgh are now pointing for the contest with Washington and Jefferson, which is to be played in the Stadium, here, next Saturday.

The Panthers and Presidents have for years waged one of the most colorful duels of the gridiron. They have met annually with only one or two lapses for 30 years and each has won 13 games, so that this meeting will break the tie.

Despite the fact that W. & J. has won five of its six games played to date and Pitt has won three, lost two and tied one, the battle is expected to be a characteristically heated one in which previous form will count for little.

The Panthers will attempt to provide a defense that will stop Captain Bill Amos, the famous Red and Black fullback and at the same time build an offense that will give their own ace, Gibby Welch, an opportunity to slip into the open. Last year Amos gained more ground himself than the entire Pitt backfield, although the Blue and Gold won when Wissinger, a guard, picked up a punted ball blocked by Captain Chase and dashed 30 yards for the only score of the day.

The Pitt management is expecting a crowd of from 50,000 to 60,000.

SKULL PRACTISE

Babe Ruth hit six home runs in St. Louis Browns' ball park this year. He may hit more next year, but George Sisler won't have to watch 'em pass over the fence.

* * *

There's talk about the Big Ten team inviting Notre Dame to enter that conference. They might as well give Rockne the annual championship the day the move is made.

* * *

Bill Carrigan may be asked to lead the Red Sox again. Only trouble is that Bobby Quinn must convince Bill that the Sox are still in the American league.

* * *

Brooklyn Dodgers have recalled seven players from the minors and purchased seven more. Uncle Robbie seems to be throwing sevens with great ragularity.

* * *

Pete Latzo, world's welterweight champion denies he will quit the ring. Which at least tips us off that Pete is still in it.

A Titanic Clash — By Feg Murray

Copyright, 1926, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

The coming week-end features many big games, but none o'ershadows in importance the annual conflict between Ohio State and Michigan. This struggle, to be fought out within the beautiful stadium at Columbus, O., with over 80,000 pop-eyed spectators looking on, should be one of the most sensational and bitterly fought battles of the year. All season the cry has gone up throughout the Big Ten to "Stop Michigan", and ever since the Wolverines disposed of Illinois it was seen that only Ohio State had a chance to halt the 1925 Western Conference champions.

But before they can stop Michigan Coach Wilce's Buckeyes will have to stop the passing and field-goal kicking of Benny Friedman, the terrific line plunging of "Battering Bo" Molenda, and the running of Messrs. Gilbert, Rich and Cook. In the game of 1925, which Michigan won, 10 to 0, Ohio State completely smothered Michigan's passing attack, but could not prevent the famous Mr. Friedman from kicking one field goal, nor the less famous Mr. Molenda from battering his way over for one touchdown.

This Molenda person is a fullback, one of the most aggressive in the Big Ten. He has a way of plowing through opposing lines that reminds old-timers of Ted Coy of Yale. When Michigan needs a few yards Bo usually gets them, and adds a few more for good measure. He also shines at intercepting passes.

Playing opposite to Mr. Molenda will be Marty Karow, Buckeye captain, and a fullback of parts. He can do more things with a football than his rival, but has been severely handicapped throughout his gridiron career by injuries. It was in the Michigan-Ohio State game last year that a referee noticed Marty staggering about the field, and advised that he be taken out. He had been severely hurt in the first half, but insisted on playing.

Karow first jumped into fame as a sophomore by routing the jinx that hovered over the new Buckeye stadium. After two years of dismal defeats on their home grounds Ohio finally beat Purdue when Karow grabbed a pass and sprinted 30 yards to a touchdown in October, 1924. He's like that, Marty is—he may do it again next Saturday.

Feg Murray Says—

No, Esmerelda, "Boyle's Thirty Acres" does not refer to a football star's many bruises.

Twelve Undefeated Grid Teams Struggle For 1926 Collegiate Championship

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor Internat'l News Service

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Having been caught out on the usual limb when they started the weekly shake-down of the championship crop, some of our best people today were down in the gravel with the rest of the gridiron peasantry. Included among the fallen peaches that now will be harvested with the lemon crop are Missouri, Kansas Aggies and Holy Cross. The latter got a tie with Fordham, which is tantamount to saying that it is not a championship football team, even if illusions on that point had been few.

Missouri lost to Oklahoma just at a time when the boys in the back room were beginning to rally around the outfit as a national possibility. But now Missouri will do well to win the Valley Conference title, if at all. Kansas Aggies' defeat by Marquette did the valley situation practically no good, either. It looks like anybody's title out there.

Twelve Teams Undefeated

One might say the same for the national sweepstakes, with some 12 entries still roosting high in the branches of the championship tree. They are: Ohio State, Stanford, Brown, Alabama, Army, Lafayette, Navy, Notre Dame, Tennessee, Alabama, New York University and Boston College.

However, hardly more than six of them will go through the wire undefeated. Offhand, I would name the following as the best bets for that distinction: Alabama, Brown, Lafayette, Stanford and Oregon Aggies.

Having taken Kentucky in stride on Saturday, Alabama must now account for Florida and Georgia. It should do that. Lafayette hardly can miss with only Susquehanna and Lehigh to meet. Brown's hurdles, Harvard, New Hampshire State and Colgate, are a trifle higher, but the Bear can survive. Stanford must dispose of Washington and California, but I can't see the necessity for undue worry. As for Oregon Aggies, if they can't beat Oregon they just don't belong.

Some of these teams are named largely because of light schedules. My favorite teams are Alabama, Army, Brown, Lafayette, Navy, Notre Dame, Ohio State and Stanford. At a venture I'd say the teams that recommend themselves to me least are Harvard and Yale, the boys who were good guys when they had it, whenever that was.

Notre Dame vs. Army

The crossing of championship trails by the Army, Navy and Notre Dame seems certain to eliminate someone, anyhow. Boston College, which didn't look so hot against Villanova, will oblige in this respect, too, by hooking up with Holy Cross in the season's finale. But before Boston gets around to that matter, it will have to beat the Haskell Indians and that isn't being done seven days in every week.

Ohio State really will take on the tough spots of its schedule in its last two games with Michigan and Illinois, so I can't go crazy about the Buckeyes' chances until further notice. I feel the same way about New York U., which pulled out a 6 to 0 victory over Carnegie Tech, but still has to reckon with Nebraska, its most plausible opponent.

That goes, too, for Tennessee, which more or less proved its case by beating Sewanee; almost but not quite. It will prove its case when it beats Vanderbilt, if ever.

Michigan kept the Big Ten race hot by running up 37 points on Wisconsin, which may or may not have been a surprise. However, there is no doubting the unexpected nature of the Yale and Harvard defeats, Holy Cross' tie game, the defeat of Syracuse by Georgetown and that of West Virginia by Pittsburgh, although the writer was pleased to see that one coming, and, of course, the downfall of Missouri and Kansas Aggies.

Liberty Five To Stage Practice

The Liberty Five will hold their first practice of the year at the Lincoln-Garfield gym on Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock with Coach "Bub" Jones in charge, it was announced today.

Coach Jones is rated as one of the best amateur players in New Castle and will be invaluable to the Liberty Five as coach and leader.

The Liberty Five will open their 1926 floor season on Thanksgiving night at Beaver Falls with the Cramer Five as opponents on the U. P. church floor. Manager Tino will book fast games for the boys this year. The Liberty Five will also join the Y. M. C. A. league it was announced.

The following members of the team are asked to report for the first practice: G. Thomas, Ed Roher, E. Gennock, T. Tino, G. Jenkins, Elmer Reiber, Louis M. Kulich, N. Parker, Dave Rogovin, Dan Eardley, "Hank" Nocera and Coach Jones.

Mountain climbing is a fairly modern sport, although as early as the 17th century the systematic and scientific climbing of mountains may be said to date from the year 1857, when the first Alpine Club was organized in London.

Game Westminster Eleven Shows Calibre In Saturday Clash

With Crippled Line-up And Beaten, 14-0, In First Half, Team Comes Back Strong

Outplays Waynesburg In Second Half Of Game At New Wilmington Saturday

By WILLIAM THOMAS
(News Special Correspondent)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 8. —"To the victor usually belongs the spoils." However, Waynesburg College's heavy grid unit was not over-shadowed with honors as the yellow jacketed lads trotted from the field here Saturday afternoon at the conclusion of play with Westminster's pigskin adherents. After being scored on for a total of 14 points in the first half, the lighter Westminster crew came back in the second half to outplay the visitors and to annex three points via a sensational field goal by McQuiston from the 38 yard line in the third period. The final count was 14-0 in favor of Waynesburg.

In defeat, Westminster shared honors with Waynesburg. Thought to be wholly demoralized by the rout at the hands of Pitt the Saturday previous and with several regulars on the bench, the game blue and white players gave an exceptional exhibition of an uphill fight. A bad break at the start of the game in the form of a fumble, gave Waynesburg the most important break of the game and paved the way for the visitor's first touchdown.

On the kickoff, Westminster received and carried the ball to their own 42 yard line. On the first play, the center failed to give Hall the proper lead, with the result that Hall reached the ball with but one hand and fumbled. Shively, visiting end, scampered through the line and pounced on the rolling pigskin on Westminster's 38 yard line. Line bucks failed to gain materially but a neat pass from Baker to Shively carried the oval to Westminster's 10. Four line bucks netted Waynesburg three yards, Westminster taking the ball on its own seven.

Hostettler cracked the center of the line for six yards but Hall lost as many on a long sweep of left end. McQuiston's toe lacked accuracy and his punt went out of bounds on Westminster's 28. This time Waynesburg could not be denied. With Frank using his powerful body for a ram, the oval was carried across on straight football. Baker kicked goal.

The second quarter opened with Waynesburg in possession of the ball on Westminster's 40 yard line. Frank and Carlson contrived to add a first down and then Carlson dashed off right tackle to the seven. Frank added two and Carlson moved forward to the one. From here, Carlson went across. Baker again kicked goal giving Waynesburg a 14-0 lead which was theirs when the half ended.

Westminster came back in the second half, appearing as an entirely different eleven. There was a perceptible change on the first kickoff and Westminster fans began to look for things.

After an exchange of punts, it was Westminster's ball on their own 30. From here a drive was executed that carried the pigskin to Waynesburg's 39. Halted in attempts to pierce the line and sweep the ends, McQuiston dropped back for an attempted field goal. Standing on his own 47 yard line, he uncorked one of the prettiest pieces of individual work witnessed here in years. The ball carried high and far, sailing directly over the cross bar and falling 12 yards in back of the goal line. The kick carried 59 yards.

The field goal renewed Westminster's fight and from this point on, Waynesburg was in hot water. Westminster kicked to Waynesburg and the visitors failed to move forward in three tries, being forced to punt. It was Westminster's ball on her own 45 yard. From here a forward pass, McQuiston to Furno, netted 13 yards. The ball was advanced to Waynesburg's 40 but Randolph of Waynesburg intercepted a Westminster air thrust on his own 38 as the period ended.

Using McCleary, a substitute fullback, as official line smasher, the Waynesburg eleven crashed through to Westminster's 12. With their backs to the wall, Westminster showed a driving defense. On three plays, Waynesburg lost one yard and on their fourth try a forward pass, Carlson was squashed before he could get rid of the ball for a loss of 12 yards.

As Westminster took the ball, playing time was scarce and an aerial attack was launched. A pass from McQuiston to Hostettler placed the oval on Waynesburg's 49. Hall went through to the visitors' 35. From here, McQuiston attempted another field goal. The kick had force but was off in direction by several degrees, Waynesburg taking the ball on their own 20. With time remaining for only a few plays, Waynesburg called Toline in to play for end runs, but his attempts were ruined before he could reach open field.

Frank of Waynesburg and his little partner Susano at right end, were Waynesburg's principal cogs. However, McCleary, when substituted for Frank, proved to be mighty hard to stop and made a fine reserve man. Woodward at center, also played exceptional football.

It was Captain Montgomery's final game for Westminster and he was in there every minute. The final whistle sounded taps for one of Westminster's greatest linemen in many years. The New Castle lad played three years as a Blue and White varsity guard. Westminster's 1926 season is over.

McQuiston's field goal, was Westminster's outstanding play. Hostettler rammed the line hard while Wagoner tackled and carried the ball with considerable power.

During the afternoon, Waynesburg annexed 14 first downs to seven by Westminster. The Greene Countians counted nine to one in the first half, Westminster gaining five to Waynesburg's four in the second half. Westminster attempted eight passes, four of which were completed for a total gain of 44 yards. Only one was intercepted. Waynesburg completed two in five tries for 40 yards. Westminster suffered penalties to the extent of 15 yards while Waynesburg was set back five yards on one occasion for being offside.

GENEVA CROSS COUNTRY TEAM IS ENTERTAINED

Celebrating their 22 to 33 victory over Grove City, the Geneva cross-country team, tri-state champions, were the guests at a dinner given by their manager, Elroy Lockley, at his home at 727 County Line street, Saturday evening.

The Geneva team, under Bo McMillan, has enjoyed a very successful season, being defeated only by Carnegie Tech. In this race two Geneva men, Irons and Sid Lockley, finished ahead of Tech's fastest runner, Captain Crawford, on his own course. Four New Castle boys are members of the Geneva team, Elroy Lockley, manager, Johnny Kenat, captain; Sid Lockley, last year's captain, and Ralph Mackley.

A full course dinner was served by Mrs. H. W. Lockley at six. Mrs. Lockley was assisted in serving by Miss Sue Cramer and Mrs. L. E. Cramer. After dinner the team spent some time singing their college and the latest popular songs. This was followed by a theater party.

The following Geneva runners were present: Robb, Irons, Larcomb, Crockett, Piper, Mackley, Kenst, Doak, Sid and Elroy Lockley.

Personal liberty is a fine thing, but it doesn't work well at a busy intersection.

Golf Association Retains Officers For Another Year

William C. Fownes, Jr., Of Pittsburgh Again Named President

The executive committee nominated will be made up of Roger D. Lapham, San Francisco; H. C. Mackall, Minneapolis; Thomas B. Paine, Atlanta; Melvin A. Traylor, Chicago; James D. Standish, Jr., Detroit; George V. Rotan, Houston; Herbert Jaques, Brookline, Mass., and Rodman E. Griscom, Philadelphia.

Rotan will succeed Cameron B. Buxton, Dallas, who died, and Mackall will take the place of William J. Foye, Omaha.

PANTHER WINS

Smarting under the accusation that the Panthers do not rank with Pitt teams of former seasons, the Sutherlands came through with colors flying Saturday and defeated the hardy Mountaineers of West Virginia, 17 to 7.

Welch played a brilliant game, scoring two touchdowns, one being made possible by Rooney's forward pass. The latter kicked a placement goal and a point from touchdown. Rooney's playing was uncovered with a stellar hue. Booth netted the other point through a kick from touchdown.

WAITING FOR ARMY

Notre Dame found Indiana university easy and chalked up a 26 to 0 victory with third and fourth string players in the lineup as Knute Rockne desired to save all his first string players for the Army clash.

Rockne's team was not forced to extend itself. Flanagan and Dahman, who have gained considerable ground this year, were in form and each contributed two touchdowns and Dahman made two drop kicks for the extra points after the touchdowns.

SCULL BEATS STATE

Paul Scull defeated Penn State at Philadelphia when he dropped a kick from the 40-yard line, giving University of Pennsylvania a 3 to 0 victory over a team that lacked a fighting drive.

Penn State took the ball within one yard of a touchdown in the second period, but Penn put up stubborn resistance and took the ball on downs.

MAKES GOOD RUN

Georgetown staged a great fight at Syracuse and after an alert, aggressive fight, Syracuse fell 13 to 7. Georgetown's scores came from placement goals by Bucky O'Neil and a touchdown by Thompson.

Syracuse's touchdown resulted from one of the most spectacular and thrilling runs seen in Syracuse for years. Hanson took the ball from a pass and raced from the 45-yard line through a broken field.

TECH OUTPLAYED

Carnegie Tech was outplayed at New York and New York university won 6 to 0 in the Yankee stadium. All of the grit and tactics the Plaid possesses could not offset the New Yorkers' attack.

Two placement goals, kicked by big chap named Strong, contributed the Violet margin of victory. The first was kicked from the 10-yard line and the second from the 20-yard line

BETHANY WALLOPED

Bethany served as a buffer between the Lafayette and Pitt games and was defeated in a somewhat listless game by Washington & Jefferson by a score of 26 to 0.

Washington & Jefferson had no difficulty in riding roughshod over the Bisons and scored a touchdown in each of the quarters. May kicked a placement goal twice for the extra points.

DREAM SHATTERED

Harvard's dream of a return to the "Big Three" title was shattered by Princeton's aggressiveness, the Tiger winning 12 to 0 from the Crimson by taking advantage of Harvard's misplays.

The two teams clashed in an atmosphere of dynamite and after the game Tiger sympathizers swarmed upon the field and ripped out the goal posts. Calkins and Slagle were the stars for Princeton.

YALE HUMBLED

Yale was humbled 15 to 0 by Maryland and Tad Jones' second string players were scattered thither and yon by the team which flashed a new star in Stevens, who scored two touchdowns and kicked two points from touchdown.

The Blue was outgeneralled and outrushed. They lacked the offensive decisiveness necessary to win and when Foote, McGonigle and Ordway were rushed into the lineup it did not materially help Yale.

CRIPPLES LOSE

Northwestern flashed a powerful attack and Purdue, which has been playing sensational football, exhibited scarcely any of their stuff and were snowed under 22-0.

The Navy backfield ran wild against Wesleyan and showered Wesleyan with touchdowns, winning 53 to 7. Shapley returned to left halfback and flashed a brilliant performance.

Crippled Chicago fell before Illinois 7 to 0, Stagg's cohorts beating the Zuppkemen when Daugherty scored a tuochdown and Frosty Peters kicked for the extra point.

Wisconsin with Michigan went into their game with the humiliation of the Middies' victory over them and won 27 to 0. It was the worst defeat Wisconsin has suffered for years.

GIBSON SHINES AT GROVE CITY

Plays Big Role In Grove City's Defeat Of St. Francis

GROVE CITY, Pa., Nov. 8. — Right guard Gibson of Grove City played a stellar game Saturday, blocking two punts and recovering the ball for touchdowns and Grove City defeated St. Francis 25 to 6. St. Francis line crumpled before the powerful Crimson. Smith of St. Francis had three ribs broken.

Gibson's points were netted in the second quarter and toward the latter part of the period Gibson broke down a third punt and Rankin recovered for a touchdown, but a try for point failed. The fourth touchdown resulted from line plunges by Cribbs, Hammond and Pusch, Cribbs finally taking the ball over and kicking for the extra point successfully.

The lineup:

Grove City—25		St. Francis—6
Rankin	L E	A. Abels
Sweet	L T	Murphy
Johns	L G	Salony
McConnell	C	Stringer
Gibson	R G	Keeling
McVickers	R T	Ingolduy
C. Anderson	R E	Boyle
Hammond	Q B	Kunzler
Lance	L H	Bruno
E. Anderson	R H	McLister
Cribbs	F B	L. Abels

Substitutions—Grove City: Patton for McVicker; Evans for Anderson; McVicker for Patton, Patton for Sweet, Pusch for Lance, Angelo for Evans, Rosenberg for Angelo, Anderson for Pusch, Luobono for Cribbs; St. Francis: Smith for Bruno, Casey for Kunzier, Roetzel for A. Abels, White for Salony, Bruno for Smith, Kunzier for Cazy, Salony for Keeling. Touchdown—Gibson, Cribbs, Rankin 2, McLister. Referee—Bolster. Umpire—Cavanaugh. Head linesman—Hildebrand.

Carnegie Tech Runners Win

Defeat Westminster Harriers By Narrow Margin On Saturday Afternoon

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 8—A cross country run, the equal of which has never been witnessed at Westminster college took place Saturday afternoon between the Blue and White harriers and the distance men from Carnegie Tech as a preliminary event to the Westminster-Waynesburg grid game. Carnegie Tech kept their record immaculate by downing Westminster 23-31.

The race was run over a course which is five and two-fifths miles in length. Crawford of Carnegie Tech was the first runner to come into sight. A few yards behind him was Wesley Rose of Westminster, a New Castle lad. Crawford completed the course in 30 minutes 28 seconds.

Capt. Mirtz of Westminster, who has been suffering with a chronic ailment since early season, finished third. The order of the finish of the others is: McNair, Carnegie Tech, fourth; Campbell, Carnegie Tech, fifth; Solkin, Carnegie Tech, sixth; Peck, Carnegie Tech, seventh; Ellis, Westmnister, seventh; King, Westminster, ninth and Brown, Westminster, tenth.

Georgetown Holds Scoring Lead Among Collegiate Gridders

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Georgetown University still was in the lead today for national point scoring honors among the colleges, the Washington school having tallied 243 points against seven opponents. Lafayette was in second place with 227, Vanderbilt third with 208 and Southern California fourth with 199.

The remaining leaders were the Army and Colgate, 198 each; Pennsylvania and Stanford, 191 each; Penn State, 185; Syracuse, 184; Minnesota, 182; and Dartmouth 181.

Football between Brown and Dartmouth is now a case of even-Stephen. Since 1894 the Bruins and Green have played 21 games, with 10 victories to the credit of each. In 1896 the game resulted in a tie score of 10-to-10.

Lincoln Five Meets Tonight

Lincoln Five, junior champions of Lawrence county, will meet at eight o'clock tonight at the Y and expect to have a better five this season owing to the addition of Kirker and Nocera. Dan Eardley, 210 Reynolds street, is booking games at home and abroad.

During the six years that Gil Dobie has been coaching the Cornell varsity elevens the Red and White has lost an average of only one game a year. For three seasons beginning with 1921 his teams won every game.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

Bryan Downey, well known middleweight, is going to divide his time now between fighting and teaching the young idea how to fight.

Downey will be remembered as the man who lost a golden chance to win a ring title because somebody held the champion's foot.

At least Johnny Wilson, the king who risked his title in the ring with Downey claims that such an accident and not a sock in the jaw from Downey's good right sent him to the canvas in their battle, and Wilson's referee upheld him.

The two met in Cleveland some years ago. Wilson was called a cheese champion when he won the title. Later events proved he was one. In their Cleveland battle Downey was outslugging and outpointing Wilson. The referee was a hand-picked one. Downey realized he had to knock out Wilson to get a decision. He finally got his chance. Wilson went to the floor as the two closed in near the ropes. Cleveland writers gave Downey credit for a knock-down the only thing needed to give Downey the bout on points. The referee, however, gave Wilson the bout.

Wilson claimed after the bout that one of the men in the press row had deliberately reached out and grabbed his (Wilson's) ankle as Downey whaled him. This caused the champ to assume the ungraceful posture on his tights, he averred.

Downey met Wilson later but another handpicked referee ruined his chances.

At least two clubs in the National League, professional football circuit organized by Cash and Carry Pyle, are in financial trouble according to recent word.

They are the Cleveland and Newark franchises.

Players of the Cleveland "Panthers" delayed a recent game while they came to an agreement with the three backers of the team regarding salaries. Big Bill Edwards, president of the league, was summoned to Cleveland in an effort to keep the club going by obtaining new backing for it if necessary.

Meanwhile the poor attendance at games staged in Newark, N. J., has caused Pyle to attempt to place that franchise in some other city.

It is generally believed that while Pyle expected that some of the cities would not turn out profitable crowds all season the big games of the year would net the clubs enough to enable them to break even. The Cleveland club, for instance, was counting on the final game of the season, that with Red Grange and his Yankees, in the Yankee Stadium in New York, to reimburse them for their efforts. They apparently were unable, however, to keep the team going until that date.

MORTAK OUTSTANDING STAR IN GRID BATTLE

Castle had the ball on the 15 yard line. Turk picked up five yards on a triple pass from Sillman to Harper to Turk. Klaber plunged through center for three yards. Harper made it first down New Castle on the five yard line. Harper, Sillman and Klaber were stopped in the next three plays and New Castle lost the ball on the one yard line after a terrific assault on the Donora line and failed in its purpose. Mortak crossed up the locals and instead of kicking out of danger threw a long pass to Rumora that took the ball to the 40 yard line. Millison was removed from the game for a violation of the rules and W. Mott was sent in for New Castle. Mortak was thrown for a loss of 3 yards by Christman. Donora was stopped in three plays and Mortak kicked to Sillman on the 22 yard line. New Castle drew a 15 yard penalty for holding and the ball rested on the one yard line. Robinson kicked out of bounds on the 25 yard line. Mortak fumbled and New Castle had the ball on the ten yard line a series of forward passes by the locals were not completed. Donora High secured the ball on the 20 yard line and Mortak essayed for a dropkick but the kick went wide the goal posts.

New Castle had the ball on the 22 yard line as the game ended.

ALL-AMERICAN GRID CANDIDATES

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Today's suggestions as All-American eleven possibilities are picked from Notre Dame and Princeton.

Cris Flannigan, left half on Knute Rockne's main backfield, is one of the greatest ball runners in the game today. There are other backfield men who must be considered because of their triple threat propensities, but Flannigan specializes on running with the ball and tops it off with a beautiful job of kicking. This is his second year as a star for the South Bend team. He, Hearndon, Edwards and Enright, formed Rockne's strongest quartet last season and are called into the fray this year when the reverses are needed most. If any particular star can be singled out of the 60 or 70, Flannigan is worthy of consideration.

Slagle, generally rated as an All-American last fall, is once more the life of the Princeton team, as witness the Tiger's poor showing when injuries forced him out of the game.

Slagle, too, is at his best with a ball in his hand. He is one of the best broken field runners in football today. He was almost a unanimous choice for All-American honors last fall. While his season's efforts to date have been short because of his injuries his work in the Big Three games—barring accidents—will throw him into the limelight again.

Menu Hint.

Bananas are a little heavy to serve by themselves for the breakfast fruit, therefore we will mix them with a little orange juice. Boiled rice is a nice change from the regular breakfast cereals and the raisins may be added or not as you like. The rice may be cooked in the double boiler but a cup of rice thrown into a quart of boiling salted water and cooked rapidly until the water is absorbed will be delightfully fluffy and palatable. The saucepan in which it is cooked may be stood in another containing hot water to keep warm. Try cooking the breakfast cocoa in the double boiler and don't forget to add a pinch of salt.

SUGGESTIONS.

The Family Mending.

The problem of the sewing basket piled high with mending has been solved by one woman to her satisfaction. Possibly her solution may help others. Cut a piece of colored paper into small squares Now when the basket of clean clothes comes up from the laundry if you can't spare the time to mend just then pin a square of the colored paper on each article of clothing or linen needing attention. Then put away both mended and unmendeda articles in the drawers and clothes presses where they belong. Each member of the family understands when looking for fresh clothing that the taged article is in need of repair and is not to be used. Then when you mend go to the drawers and closets and readily find the articles to be mended. There's a real satisfaction in having the things in neat piles where they belong rather than in a heterogeneous, untidy heap in a basket. However the stockings find their way as usual to the capacious darning basket and that basket usually is tackled first, last and all the time.

Improving the Flavor.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Strength and activity of the railroad and industrial stocks were the features of the early trading in the stock market today. Simultaneously with the publication of General Motors' sensational third quarterly and nine-months' earnings statement, the stock of that corporation was pressed for sale and declined 3½ points to 146¾ in the first hour.

The railroad shares were the center of whatever constructive movements in stock prices to be seen in this period. Atchison continued its advance to above 158, while Baltimore and Ohio, New York Central and other of the dividend and rails commanded higher prices. The Nickel Plate stocks were firm, though comparatively inactive.

The copper stocks were firm. Oil stocks, after an irregular opening, developed considerable stability in the leading independents, which took their cue from the market action of the Standard Oil stocks in the outside market.

The Government's cotton crop estimate of 17,918,000 bales was in line with expectations. News from the industrial centers was generally favorable and money was in good supply at 4½ per cent.

Large Audiences At Services In Reformed Church

Large audiences featured the three services conducted Sunday in the Reformed Presbyterian church with Evangelist E. K. Patton from Winchester, Kansas, as the speaker. The music led by Robert A. M. Steele added much to the inspiration of the services.

The mass meeting for men in the afternoon was especially well attended. This evening, Rev. Patton will give his talk to children using for his subject, "The Treasure Box." His talk will be illustrated. His message for the evening will be on the theme, "Joy." Services will be continued each evening this week at 7:30.

Next Sunday afternoon he will give a special talk to women. His subject will be, "Ships of Which Women are Captains."

Direct Primary Becomes Issue

Will Be One Of Chief Sources Of Interest To State Legislatures

ISSUE IS NOT PARTISAN ONE

By GEORGE H. MANNING
(Washington Correspondent of the News.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 8.—The direct primary is destined to become one of the chief issues in the state legislatures this winter, and doubtless in the next elections.

The fuse which set off the attacks on the direct primary made by such leaders as Vice President Charles G. Dawes and Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, vice chairman of the Republican senatorial committee, was the revelation of the huge expenditures in the Pennsylvania and Illinois primaries.

The issue is not partisan. Democrats and Republicans oppose the primary, and Republicans and Democrats favor it. President Harding advocated a return to the convention system, but Charles Evans Hughes led the fight for the primary in New York.

Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska is one of the leading Republican defenders of the primary system, while Robert Lansing of Watertown, N. Y., secretary of state under the Wilson administration, is among its more eminent Democratic foes.

The Women's National Democratic club, however, charges that the source of attack is the Republican party, and many Republican women are writing to the women's division of the Republican national committee favoring a repeal of primary laws.

In response to Vice President Dawes' attack on the primary, the women Democrats issued a statement declaring that opponents of Democracy have since the days of Alexander Hamilton "advocated the withdrawal of power from the people and the concentration of power in the hands of a few."

The statement in reply to the charges that the primaries are responsible for large expenditures in campaigns goes on:

"Do these people think for a moment that an office-seeker prepared to buy his way into office and backed by sufficient funds to do so, would find it more difficult to buy directly or influence indirectly the votes of a comparatively small number of persons than the votes of an entire electorate? Or do they think that the practice of purchase or undue influence is reprehensible only in proportion to the amount of money involved? To most people fraud, corruption, bribery and undue influence continue to carry these unpleasant names even when the sums by which they are accomplished do not run into the millions."

Although nationally, the most outstanding attacks on the primary have been made by Republicans, both the Democrats and Republicans in Indiana wrote planks opposing the direct primary in their platforms. New Jersey Republicans are making a fight for the abolition of the primary, while the Democrats in that state want to keep it. Iowa Republicans have declared against the primary, but the state continues to nominate Smith W. Brookhart, an advocate of the primary, by a large majority, and the Republican assembly takes no action on the question. In Ohio 242,000 voters petitioned for an amendment to the Ohio constitution to empower the state legislature to determine the method of nominations.

The chief support for the primary comes, within the parties, from the women, organized labor and the prohibitionists. The National League of Women Voters, with the slogans "Watch your primary" and "The primary is the woman's chance to nominate," is making a definite campaign for the retention of the primary.

The American Federation of Labor declares unequivocally that the most effective way to choose friends of labor and to defeat foes of labor is by means of the primary, while industrial leaders have expressed opposition to the primary.

In support of the women's claim that the primary is the woman's chance to nominate, Charles S. Merriam, dean of American political economists, points out that the number of women delegates to conventions is very small, frequently only 5 or 10 per cent of the total convention, while probably 40 per cent of the vote in the primaries is cast by women.

The original argument in favor of the primary was that it was "the poor man's chance to nominate", and the argument being used against it is that "the poor man cannot run for office when he has to make both a primary and a general election campaign."

But Miss Belle Sherwin, president of the National League of Women Voters, declares that she doubts if the cost of being nominated has increased more rapidly than has the general cost of living.

"Besides," Miss Sherwin adds, "there was no way of knowing what convention nominations cost. It it much easier to disclose corruption when nominations are made by primaries than when they are made by convention."

The primary system has, in the last seven years, been attacked in the legislatures of more than half of the states in which it is employed. Last year 19 legislatures made attempts to repeal or weaken the primary law. New York returned to convention system for state-wide tickets in 1921. Idaho returned to the convention system for state candidates after a complete repeal of the primary law had been disapproved by the voters—and Senator William E. Borah has refused to attend every state Republican convention since the primary was abandoned.

The argument of the double expense of election caused by the primary is not effective in one-party states, as there the only real campaigns made are in the primaries. Twenty-one states are, for all practical purposes, one-party states, and it is estimated that more than one-half of all the counties in the United States are one-party counties.

Other arguments made are that the primary weakens party responsibility, as men are nominated by primaries who are not faithful to the party; that a less intelligent type of candidate is chosen by the primary, and that "interested minorities" can control primaries. The third argument is also used against the convention system of nominations by the advocates of the primary.

War Picture Is Being Presented

Moving Pictures Of Actual Warfare Showing Here Under V. F. W. Auspices

The cream of war pictures, skimmed from the vast amount of moving photographs taken on all fronts during the encounter, is presented all this week, beginning today at the Penn theater. A concentrated picture account of the World War unreels itself before your eyes, with English, French, Italian, Russian and American armies sharing almost equally in the amount of space given to their activities.

It is a grim record. It tells a story of hardships and of efforts which seem almost superhuman, looked at across the space of several years. We had grown accustomed to horrors in those days. We have now returned to the softer sentiment of peace. Perhaps that is why the picture seemed, to the spectator at least, more poignant and moving in its presentation of heroism than similar scenes viewed during and shortly after the war.

Because this is an actual record, told by cameras, the cranks of which were turned by men who themselves became the victims of bullets, there can be no softening or sentimentalizing of the facts of warfare. No glamour of distance softens the stern reality. Men tramp through the mud, climb out of trenches, burrow in the earth, set off charges of dynamite, manipulate huge cannons, fight and fall wounded, sometimes to be picked up by stretcher-bearers, sometimes to lie in crompled heaps. There is nothing very alluring about the business of war!

The pictures contain many scenes of actual fighting, sometimes hand-to-hand. By means of special lens, vivid photographs could be taken of the very thickest of the fray. There are scenes of life at the front, lightened now and then by touches of comedy. There are spectacular and picturesque scenes, for instance, Italian campaigns across the snows of the Alps. There are scenes of destruction wrought by the zeppelins and the terror of civilians during a raid. Marine warfare is not overlooked and ships are torpedoed and sunk as you watch.

Lest we forget what war means, it is well to look at such reminders occasionally. Certainly war itself is the greatest anti-war propaganda. And then there is another reason to keep alive the memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice and who rest "beyond the shadow of the eternal years". The picture is being shown by Col. Harry L. McBride Post, No. 522, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for the benefit of their Post fund that in itself is reason for going to see it.
